Byron Leydecker Appointed Marin Supervisor By Brown

THREE DAYS TO MOVE — Warren Anderson prunes a gardenia Thumbergii, world's largest gardenia which comes from South Africa and bears flowers up to five inches in diameter, one of rare plants in his nursery at the end of Frank's Valley, which he has been ordered by the State Division of Beaches and Parks to vacate within three days.

Partial Test Ban Agreement Is Initialed

Harriman Says Very Important Work Is Done

MOSCOW (AP)—A partial nuclear test ban agreement was initialed today and W. Averell Harriman announced it will be signed in Moscow next week by Foreign Ministers of Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The chief U.S. negotiator, British Science Minister Lord Hailsham and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko hailed the agreement banning nuclear weapons tests in the air, outer space and under water.

Harriman told reporters the treaty will be signed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Gromyko at next week's ceremony.

THREE-HOUR SESSION

The three spokesmen announced the action after a three-hour meeting at the Foreign Ministry reception hall in Spiridonovka Palace.

Harriman told newsmen that he had completed a "very important work."

Gromyko told nearly 100 assembled reporters: "The end has been successful. Let us consider this as a basis for further steps."

Said Hailsham: "It is the beginning of many good things."

News correspondents were called in at 7:25 p.m. and told by Gromyko that the document had been initialed.

The correspondents, who had waited in the streets for over four hours, asked why it had taken so long.

FUTURE PLANS

Gromyko replied: "we made plans for the future."

This presumably was a reference to other issues dividing the East and West.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, for example, wants the agreement followed up quickly by a nonaggression pact between the Atlantic Alliance and its Communist equivalent, the Warsaw Pact powers.

For a time it was feared that this question might hold up the initialing of the limited test ban agreement. Harriman and Hailsham were authorized only to negotiate on the test ban.

Earlier in the day, experts of the three powers met and made some last-minute revisions. This caused some surprise, since the draft was reported in final form yesterday.

The initialing climaxed 10 days of negotiations.

SOVIET PROPOSAL

The greatest appendage proposed by the Soviet Union was for a nonaggression pact.

Harriman and Lord Hailsham talked in great detail yesterday with Gromyko about the nonaggression pact. They sought to prevent this issue from delaying the initialing of the test ban agreement.

Both Harriman and Hailsham came to Moscow with authority to negotiate only the test ban and not to go further than a general discussion of a nonagression pact, which would vitally concern the other 13 NATO allies.

Banker To Take Over Castro's Old Post

Thirty-six-year-old banker Byron W. Leydecker will succeed the late Walter R. Castro on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Leydecker's appointment was announced by Gov. Edmund G. Brown's office today. The governor chose the young banker, active in civic affairs, before leaving late yesterday for Washington, D.C., where he was to confer on California water problems emanating from the recent Supreme Court decision on division of Colorado River water.

"I naturally feel deeply honored that the governor would consider I was qualified to accept this responsibility," said Leydecker today at his office at Redwood National Bank in San Rafael.

"I feel humble about it, particularly as I follow a man who in my judgment possessed characteristics in relation to his fellow humans, including wit and humor, that few people I've ever met do possess.

"This means that the responsibility takes on even greater significance.

"I will attempt to be as objective as I can in service to the people of Marin County and particularly of the First District."

Leydecker is president of Redwood National Bank, and as such is one of California's youngest bank presidents. Castro was a director of the bank.

UNTIL ELECTION

The appointment is until the next general election. County Counsel E. Warren McGuire has held that this means the appointment holds until the June primary next year if any candidate receives a majority of votes cast in the primary. If none does, the appointment holds until the November runoff election.

Salary will remain at the present $500 per month until Jan. 1, 1965, start of the next regular term on the board, when it will go to the $800 authorized by this year's legislature.

The election in the First District next year will be for the completion of Castro's term, which runs until the end of 1966.

Leydecker said he will definitely be a candidate next June.

AMONG FOUR

Leydecker was among four persons suggested for the appointment by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, others being attorney James Fletcher, merchant Walter Zurcher, and San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis. It was learned yesterday that Brown was giving serious consideration to Leydecker Fletcher, and attorney Leland H. Jordan.

The newly selected supervisor came to San Rafael first in 1958, as manager of Crocker Anglo-Bank's branch in the Montecito Center. He immediately became active in civic affairs, and was named United Crusade campaign chairman for Marin in 1961, but was transferred to Stockton by the bank midway in the campaign, becoming a vice president and manager of Crocker-Anglo's Stockton branch.

He returned to Marin last fall to help organize the new

RAILROADS POSTPONE DEADLINE

Strike Threat Averted For At Least One Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's railroads agreed today to put off for 30 days the posting of new manpower-trimming work rules. This averts a threatened nationwide strike next Tuesday.

Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, announced the decision at a House Commerce Committee meeting.

Loomis said the 195 carriers involved in the explosive work rules dispute would not impose the changes until 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29.

COOPERATE

Loomis said the railroads were taking this step in order to cooperate with Congress which is considering President John F. Kennedy's plan to turn the 4-year-old work rules controversy over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The chairman of the House and Senate Commerce committees had requested the delay yesterday, saying Congress didn't have time to act by Monday evening.

PAYMENTS

When the request was made, Loomis' immediate response was to say the railroads would be forced to continue "unnecessary payments for work not needed or not performed."

Loomis said such expenditures by the railroad industry are "intolerable under present conditions."

$114-Million Budget Passes Assembly, Returns To Senate

Measure Almost Exact Duplicate Of What Brown Asked Originally

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly bounced a 114-million-dollar supplemental budget to the Senate today in a move to speed a final settlement of two-house differences over the spending issue.

The bill, rewritten from the Senate's 84-million-dollar version, cleared the lower house, 55-22, with five Republicans providing the required two-thirds majority of 54.

The Senate was certain to reject the measure and thus force the dispute into conference.

Ways and Means Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) told the Assembly that the 114-million-dollar bill—almost exactly what Gov. Edmund G. Brown asked for when the special session convened 18 days ago—offered the only reasonable vehicle for compromise.

He said it was no longer a Democratic-Republican dispute but a problem of the relationship between the two houses. Crown appealed for passage in order to "preserve the dignity of this house."

"We seem to be playing a game of blindman's bluff," said Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan (R-Tracy).

Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) agreed with Crown that no partisan games were going on. But, he added:

"I see a conflict between the leaders of the majority party and the governor's office. I see the majority party floundering, if you will, among themselves."

The Assembly only yesterday passed a 95.2-million-dollar bill which was a rewrite of the Senate's 84-million-dollar proposal.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, at an emergency meeting a few hours later, voted unanimously to restore the full 114 million dollars sought by the governor.

Hunting Bill Clears, Goes To Gov. Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill untangling California's hunting season mixup cleared the legislature today and went to the governor for expected signature. (See also page 18.)

The Assembly, by a 74-0 vote, concurred in Senate amendments to the compromise measure by Assemblywoman Pauline L. Davis (D-Portola) renewing the regulatory powers of the State Fish and Game Commission, except on deer in the far northeast.

It assures Saturday opening dates, a three-point buck law, a boost in the general quail limit, a late November pheasant season and a sage grouse hunt for this year.

Mrs. Davis and Sen. Ronald G. Cameron (D-Auburn), principles in a game management dispute that scuttled a regular session bill to extend the commission's powers, agreed to the compromise yesterday.

The Senate quickly and unanimously passed the bill.

Assembly Approves School Finance Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly today passed a school finance bill containing an administration-backed county wide school property tax designed to force wealthy districts help their poorer neighbors.

A 63-12 vote sent the measure by Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan (D-Santa Rosa) back to the Senate for concurrence in the Assembly amendment that placed the tax provision in the bill.

The measure would eventually provide 60 million dollars a year in new state aid to local districts.

Kennedy To Speak To Nation Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy will make a television-radio address to the nation tomorrow night on the partial nuclear test ban agreement.

The president is expected to call for wide public support of the treaty initialed in Moscow today by representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union.

WITH 3,500 PLANTS

Tree Expert Given Three Days To Move

By BRUCE COLEMAN

W. Warren Anderson has until midnight tomorrow to vacate his seven-acre rare plant and redwood nursery at the head of Frank's Valley near Muir Woods.

It's impossible, says Anderson, to move 3,500 potted plants, many of which are rooted into the ground, plus tools, 35 potting tables, office, household equipment and wheelbarrow.

The redwood expert estimates that, when he finds another place, it will take him a month to six weeks to move the stuff in his pickup truck.

Anderson was given three-day notice to vacate by the state attorney general's office on behalf of the division of Beaches and Parks, according to Alfred Bianchi of Mill Valley, Anderson's attorney. The land, a small parcel alongside properties sold by Anderson's neighbors, is to become a part of Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Bianchi said if Anderson does not move within three days an answer must be filed contesting the order. "We may choose to contest it," he said.

"They gave Ponti on the ranch across the road six months to sell his cattle and 12 months to move out of his house," Anderson said.

On top of the notice to move, Anderson, a tanned, stubble-bearded man of 68, has other problems.

Diabetic, the former high school teacher has had two recent sojourns in the hospital, one of 14 weeks and one of nine weeks. He has been home one month. While in hospital the last time the spring on his property dried up partially and as a result, Anderson lost

No California Exhibit At Fair

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California has decided not to sponsor an official exhibit at the New York World's Fair next year "because of a limitation of time," Gov. Edmund G. Brown's office said today.

The decision came on the advice of a special commission established by the legislature to study the matter, Brown's office said.

In a letter to fair officials, Robert L. Harkness, deputy director of the Department of Finance, said the commission decided "that insufficient time remains . . . to arrange an official exhibit that would do justice to our state."

This Fellow Didn't Stay Out For Long

Edward John Meyers, 49, of 38 Jessup Street, San Rafael, has made two mistakes and both landed him in the county jail.

On May 19, Meyers tried to sell a tool box, which was stolen the day before from a pick-up truck parked on Fourth Street, to its owner, Patrick Regan of 117 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael.

Meyers, according to police, picked Regan out by coincidence at George's San Rafael Recreation Parlor, 842 Fourth Street.

Yesterday he was found innocent by a Marin County Superior Court jury of the charge of petty theft with a prior conviction.

Today at 1:15 a.m., Meyers was noticed staggering at Third Street and Lootens Place. He was taken to the county jail by police to be booked as a drunk.

At the jail, Meyers was told to empty his pockets. Out came two screw drivers, a flashlight and battery carrier, all stolen the previous evening from the car of Paul Devaux of 590 Whitewood Drive, Marinwood, according to police.

Meyers was wearing two coats. The outer one, a light windbreaker, was also taken from Devaux's car, police said.

So Meyers was held in jail today on $787.50 bail to appear in court on charges of drunkenness and petty theft with a prior conviction.

Wallace Hall Post May Go To Negro

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Max Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction, today nominated a Negro educator to fill an upper echelon vacancy in the State Department of Education.

Rafferty's choice, presented at a state board of education meeting, was Dr. Paul F. Lawrence, an associate dean of students at Alameda State College.

Lawrence, 51, would succeed Dr. Wallace W. Hall, who recently announced his resignation as associate superintendent of public instruction and chief of the department's division of higher education.

(Hall, a resident of Belvedere, resigned to take a position as president of West Valley Junior College in Santa Clara Valley.)

Lawrence, who holds a doctor of education degree from Stanford, has already been appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as chairman of the advisory committee on compensatory education, a new state agency to oversee special education programs for underprivileged children.

Rafferty, who was on vacation, presented Lawrence's name through aides as the state board opened its special summer meeting today. The board must make the appointment.

Air Force Awards Astronaut Wings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force awarded astronaut wings today to Maj. Robert A. Rushworth, the second airman to fly a winged rocket ship to a height of more than 50 miles above the earth.

At a ceremony in the office of Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Rushworth's wife pinned the astronaut wings on the pilot, who flew the X-15 rocket plane to a height of 286,000 feet last June 27.

Patrol Guard Admits Setting Fire To Plant

STOCKTON (AP) — A private patrol guard was jailed today on a charge of setting fire to the American Can Co. plant he was hired to protect.

Clarence A. Sauer, 55, was charged with arson for the $100,000 fire July 9.

Police Lt. Wallace Ayres said the guard admitted lighting a stack of milk cartons just before he went off duty at 7 a.m. Ayres said he gave no logical reason.

Ayres was hired by the Burns Detective Agency June 12 to guard the plant, nine days after a million-dollar fire swept it. Ayres said Sauer had no connection with that June 3 blaze. Its origin is still a mystery.

Steinbeck Honored

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Senate today congratulated author John Steinbeck for winning the 1962 Nobel Prize for literature.

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has told the six Colombo nations that Communist China is again engaged in a military buildup along the disputed Himalayan border, official sources said today.

Foreign Secretary M. J. Desai called in diplomats of Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Ghana, Indonesia, and the United Arab Republic to tell them about the situation, the sources said. The six countries drafted proposals at Colombo last December for keeping peace on the India-China border after the Chinese attack and ceasefire last fall.

State Code On Building Starts Aug. 8

California's first statewide building and housing code will go into effect Aug. 8, but its effect will not be widespread in Marin County.

The code applies to minimum construction, electrical, plumbing and heating standards for dwellings in unincorporated areas.

Hans Berge, chief building inspector for Marin County, said the code will affect electrical installations for housing in the unincorporated area.

The electrical safety regulations that previously applied only to places of employment, will also apply to dwellings, apartments and hotels, he said.

The San Rafael city building department reported there will be no change in city requirements which are in the 1961 uniform building code.

Air Force Says It Spent $5,000 To Spruce Up Wing For Mrs. JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force said yesterday it spent about $5,000 to spruce up a hospital wing at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., after Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's doctors checked to see if it would be available for emergency use for the birth of her third child next month.

The White House said it had no knowledge of the renovation project at the hospital, only 10 minutes by helicopter from Hyannis Port, Mass., and had not requested it.

An Air Force spokesman at the Pentagon insisted it was just a general "maintenance" chore — but the idea didn't come up until the first lady's physicians had been to Otis.

Col. C. R. Carlson of the Air Force public information office said there had been "no request, no demand and no requirement from the White House that anything be done to enhance" the seven-room wing at Otis, which is 18 miles from the Kennedys' rented summer home at Squaw Island, Hyannis Port.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger insisted that Mrs. Kennedy was going to return from Hyannis Port to have her baby at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, as originally announced.

He also insisted that the hospital wing in question — 100 feet from the delivery room — was used for transient officers and that nothing had been done to refurbish it, except possibly a cleansing of the walls.

Carlson said that the wing was built at a cost of $58,000 in 1961 with the expectation President John F. Kennedy might use it as an office while vacationing at Hyannis Port. He never did use it, however.

Carlson said the "maintenance" for the suite included leasing air conditioning units, addition of an electric dishwasher and garbage disposal unit, re-carpeting of the rooms and a cleansing of the walls. He said the money came from the regular maintenance funds for the base.

Another Air Force source said it was his opinion that few transient officers below the general rank would be billeted in the wing."

Employment Bill Is Due On Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A controversial fair employment practices bill apparently is going to be the first civil rights measure to be acted on in the House this session.

Plans are being made to bring it to the floor before the Aug. 28 mass demonstration in Washington called by Negro civil rights leaders.

The chances are the administration's omnibus civil rights bill will still be making slow progress through committees then and congressional leaders would like to be able to show the demonstrators something more substantial in the way of action.

Pinning their hopes to the FEPC bill could be a risky gamble, however, as the measure faces heavy going. Congress has been refusing to act on fair employment bills for years.

Backers of the bill now getting the green light for floor action are counting on Republican support to put it across.

The bill came out of the House Education and Labor Committee with five of the 12 Republican members supporting it. Most of the others favored a substitute measure instead of flatly opposing the legislation.

The bill would create a five-member commission and an office of administrator. The commission would be empowered to issue orders banning racial discrimination in employment.

Freeway Area Tax Pleas To Be Considered

The Marin County Board of Supervisors took under consideration yesterday a plea that Novato property on possible future freeway routes—including the present Highway 101—should be considered in "a depressed area" for tax appraisal purposes.

Attorney Hadden W. Roth, representing property owner Alfred W. Bowman, contended Bowman's commercial property, including the Novato Theater, should be reduced in value because it may be condemned for highway widening. Until the City of Novato and the State Division of Highways sign a freeway agreement, he said, there is no assurance the highway will not be widened along its present route.

Chairman William D. Fusselman agreed with the basic contention that the highway route is still in question.

A protest on behalf of the Meadow Club near Fairfax was continued for hearing at 9 a.m. tomorrow. Attorneys Julius H. Selinger and Stephen H. Kaufmann asked for a half-day hearing to consider technical disputes in lease, improvements, and methods of appraising the club's golf course.

Because of legal questions in the protest, County Counsel E. Warren McGuire will represent the board of equalization and Asst. Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will represent the assessor's office.

Among other property appraisal protests taken under consideration yesterday was one on five parcels, including part of the Silveira Ranch in Lucas Valley, owned by Anthony F. Silveira of Marinwood.

A total of 110 species of insects and mites are listed as causing losses to California crops.

Drive Starts To Put Fair Housing To Vote

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A campaign was under way today for a referendum vote of the people on California's new law hibiting racial discrimination in housing.

The Citizens League for Individual Freedoms, calling the measure a "vicious" blow against property rights, filed a notice of referendum with Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk yesterday.

After Mosk prepares a summary and title, the group must obtain 292,662 valid signatures of registered voters by Sept. 20 to place the measure on the 1964 primary ballot.

"We realize time is short," a spokesman for Mosk's office said. "We'll get it out as soon as we can."

The new law, called the Fair Housing Act would prohibit racial discrimination in about 70 per cent of private housing and virtually all publicly assisted housing in California.

Enforcement is given to the Fair Employment Practices Commission, which could go to court to enjoin discrimination if counciliation fails.

Edmund G. Brown, who backed —the bill in the legislature, called it a "milestone" that puts California in the forefront of the campaign for civil rights.

Robert D. Weinmann, executive director of the citizens league, called the name "fair housing" deceptive.

"There is nothing inherently fair about this bill, either in the methods of enforcement or in its provisions. It should be known more accurately as the forced housing bill," he said.

He claimed 15,000 members for the league, which he said was formed to "battle the growing wave of liberal legislation that is gradual eroding the rights of the citizens of this state."

Man Jailed For Drunken Driving

A 29-year-old San Rafael man was charged with being drunk in or about an auto after his Volkswagen rolled over off Highway 101 near the San Quentin overpass at about 1:40 a.m. today.

John Joseph Lynch of 62 Fair Drive first was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for arm cuts. California Highway Patrolmen J. P. Cahill and W. E. Chaty reported Lynch was northbound when he lost control of his car on a curve. It skidded and rolled 128 feet.

Lynch was freed on $105 bail for appearance in Marin Municipal Court late tomorrow.

Sonoma Woman Hurt As Pickup Is Hit

A Sonoma woman, Nellie M. Munson, 63, suffered a left shoulder injury about 8:13 a.m. yesterday when her husband's pickup truck was hit in the rear by a station wagon on Highway 101 near the Hamilton Air Force Base gate.

The southbound truck driven by Orlie F. Munson, 62, was hit by a car driven by Charles B. Breaux Jr., 37, of 358 Midway Drive, Novato, said California Highway Patrolman A. S. Olson. Mrs. Munson was treated at Marin General Hospital.

The average piece of first-class mail is now handled nine or 10 times.

Marin City Building Due Repairs

Marin City's disintegrating community building is to be made usable for another year, it was decided at a joint meeting yesterday of the Marin City Community Services District board and housing authority administrators.

The authority, according to executive director Bert Klahn, will make temporary repairs out of its maintenance budget to repair the roof, lighting, heating and plumbing. The services district agreed to make minor repairs on windows, doors and locks.

The sum of $30,000 offered by the federal government toward a new community building will not be available until 1964, said John A. Thomson, secretary of the services district board.

Vandalism is one of the main problems in upkeep, Thomson said. Klahn reported that vandalism seems to be increasing in the new buildings of the low rental area, with rubbish being placed "everywhere," garbage being dumped on the ground, and windows being broken.

New Trial Petition Denied By Judge

A man at San Quentin Prison filed a petition for a new trial on a bad check charge with Marin County Superior Court yesterday, saying his guilty plea to the charge in Modoc County was made because of threats against his wife's life.

Judge Thomas F. Keating denied the petition, saying it must be filed in Modoc County. The prisoner, C. C. Askew, said his wife was kidnapped and held by two men until he agreed to plead guilty.

The railway post office, a railroad car in which mail is sorted and distributed en route, was established on an experimental basis in 1862 on the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad.

Motorcycle Revs Up— Man Jailed

A Tomales man claimed his neighbor stomped on his back after knocking him down last night in an argument about revving up a motorcycle.

Three sheriff's officers jailed Vernon Lee Phillips, 38, of First and Valley streets, Tomales, just before midnight, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon—his boots.

Deputy William S. Christensen said the victim, Louis Sanguinetti, who lives across the street from Phillips and a friend, Ronald Thrapp, of Garrecke Road, Tomales, went to Phillips' house to ask him to cut down the noise, which Sanguinetti said Phillips made every night with the motorcycle.

Sanguinetti claimed Phillips attacked both men, knocking them down, then started to stomp on Sanguinetti. The victim's wife went to his aid with a piece of lumber.

Christensen said Sanguinetti's back was covered with bruises when he arrived soon afterward.

Rafferty Aide Ripped In Sex Offense Case

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A member of the State Board of Education lashed out angrily today at what he called insinuations that the board is careless of the welfare of children in dealing with teachers accused of sex offenses.

Nathaniel S. Colley of Sacramento said he considers it "an insult to this board for anyone to indicate that we care less about children than anyone else."

He made the remark after the board decided to delay action on a proposed revocation of the credential of a teacher accused of a sex offense.

Laurence Kearney, administrative officer to the board, had commented that "we also have to consider the risk to the kids" in granting the postponement to get more information.

Colley called the remark "offensive, insulting and unnecessary."

"I am tired of people parading before us for motherhood and against sin and implying that we are neither," he said.

Similar cases have sparked exchanges between the board and Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

Board member William Norris, a Pasadena attorney, said he felt the discussion on the credential case showed that the board was careful to take the children's welfare into consideration.

Kearney denied his remark was intended to insinuate the board did not care.

Redwood National Bank and become its president. He and his wife and three children reside at 90 Idylberry Road in Lucas Valley, but he is having a new home built in San Rafael's Chula Vista Heights. He is a registered Democrat.

Leydecker was born in Oakland and completed his education at Stanford University. He served two years in the Army.

A sidelight to the appointment—and the campaign of those seeking it—came today from the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

The GOP committee took a swipe at its opposite number in the Democratic party.

The Democratic Central Committee met last Thursday night to consider a recommendation to the governor on the supervisor appointment, but adjourned without action.

The GOP committee adopted a resolution condemning "the presumptuous and ill-timed action" of the Democrat committee.

"The office of county supervisor, long and faithfully filled by Walter Castro, is and by law a non-partisan post," said the GOP resolution. "This is so despite the best efforts of the Democratic party to convert all posts of public service into partisan positions.

"Because the position of county supervisor is non-partisan the Democratic Central Committee has no standing, official or otherwise, to make any recommendations to the governor or to anyone else with respect to filling a vacancy caused by the incumbent. Further than this, the Marin Democratic Central Committee showed shockingly poor taste in this matter."

about half his nursery stock. He now hauls water in barrels from a nearby creek.

Anderson said he got $35,000 for his land and small red house, but much of that was taken in liens and litigation. He is looking for one-half to one acre in Marin which is commercially zoned.

He plans to continue his rare plant club, sending plants around the world.

Anderson said he is one of three living descendants of John Bunyan. He lived 14 years in Kentfield before he was "zoned out" and came to Frank's Valley. He has been in his present location eight years and considers the climate ideal for growing anything from the Arctic spruce of Baffinland to the tropical Araucaria Angustifolia of equatorial Brazil.

"It took me four years to find this place," Anderson said unhappily. "I've been to almost every real estate man in the county but they haven't been able to show me anything yet."

Anderson is writing a book, which is half completed, on the redwood family. He has grown 12 of the 17 living species of redwood, he says, and hopes to have the other five. "There are 1,000 dawn redwoods in China," he said, "and I have 6,000 growing in 50 states in the U.S."

"I am going to create a new redwood tree for Russia," he declared, "one with all red wood, no white wood." He said the chief commissar of forestry in Russia has written him saying he is interested in such a tree.

"I should have at least 30 days to move," he said, looking at his 20-foot high dawn redwoods, his giant cryptoberias, his rows and rows of brown dead Monterey pines and his very rare green rose.

Cuban Refugees Claim Russians Continue Buildup

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Russians are building a new base near Santiago De Las Vegas in Havana Province, and their military buildup continues throughout Cuba, newly arrived refugees reported today.

Carlos Fraga Perez, who lived in Santiago De Las Vegas eight years, said there are indications missile installations are going in at the new base.

"There is continuous arrival of large Russian trucks covered with canvas and carrying long things that appear to be rockets," said Fraga Perez, who fled Cuba by small boat with 11 companions.

Another refugee, Rogelio Sanchez, who lived in Oriente Province, said a 67,000-acre Russian base near Baire contains subterranean installations, rockets, anti-aircraft artillery, mortars and radar.

Marin Foundation Goals Outlined

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on the Marin Mental Health Foundation. A brochure describing the specific purpose and goals of the foundation may be obtained by writing Mrs. William Niccolls, Secretary, P.O. Box 7, Ross, Calif.)

By TED N. TRACY
MMHF Advisory Council Member

The Marin Mental Health Foundation is a private, nonprofit organization of local citizens, formed for the purpose of operating a psychiatric outpatient treatment center.

The initiative for this community project comes from some of the county's most respected, public-spirited individuals.

They stand to gain nothing except the satisfaction of providing Marin with a modern, badly-needed facility for treating mental illnesses.

The goals of the foundation have been endorsed by the following organizations, among others: Marin Medical Society; Marin Assn. for Mental Health; Marin Psychiatric Society; Family Service Agency; Catholic Social Service; Marin County Council of Churches, and Marin Council of Community Services.

Everyone who lives in Marin County will benefit: Those in need of help; their families and friends; the very community itself, for the impact of mental illness goes far beyond the individual. In addition to those close to those with mental disturbances, many segments of community life are also directly affected.

The foundation's outpatient treatment center is designed primarily to help those who need psychiatric evaluation or treatment but who can neither afford extensive private care, nor qualify for public welfare assistance.

A modest minimum fee will be charged; other charges will be based on the patient's ability to pay and will be related directly to family income and expenses, using a scale developed by the University of California.

Earliest possible social rehabilitation will be the fundamental goal of treatment, which will be aimed at helping patients deal realistically with the stresses they are encountering in their daily lives.

Most important to Marin is a facility which makes treatment possible regardless of a person's means. By "filling in the gap" between the private care affordable by some, and commitment to state institutions for those who need it, the foundation's outpatient treatment cener is a sensible response to the needs of our fast-growing community.

Major sources of referrals will be personal physicians, schools and social agencies. And the overall burden of psychiatric care, both to individuals and to the community, will be considerably lightened through the follow-up care available for those who have been previously hospitalized.

(Tomorrow we will discuss how this organization plans to make it possible for Marin to have this valuable new facility.)

X-15 Rocket Plane Now Has A Kid Brother

PALMDALE (AP) — The X-15 rocket plane now has a kid brother, an F-104 jet fighter equipped with a rocket engine to boost it 25 miles high.

Lockheed-California Co. unveiled Tuesday the first of four NF-104As being built for the Aerospace Research Pilot School at nearby Edwards Air Force Base, home of the X-15.

The plane's rocket engine—6,000 pounds of thrust compared with the X-15s 57,000 pounds—will take it to 130,000 feet, where fledgling aerospace pilots will practice the precise maneuvers of returning to earth from space.

The maiden flight was made two weeks ago with test pilot Jack Woodman at the controls. Rocket powered flights will begin next month.

PG&E Advertising Hit In Complaints To PUC

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s advertising and promotional activities have a political tinge and their cost should not be borne by the company's ratepayers, the State Public Utilities Commission was told yesterday.

The statement by Richard C. Miller, spokesman for 39 complainants, was in opposition to the company's claim that such expenditures can be legally charged against rate payers.

The complainants have asked the PUC to order PG&E not to engage in certain activities which they say are not directly related to supplying customers with gas and electricity.

In the hearing before PUC examiner John M. Gregory, the company's attorney, Malcolm A. MacKillop asked Gregory to dismiss the complaint.

MacKillop contended the commission, if it granted the complainants' request, would virtually bar the company from any form of advertising activity. The attorney said such an order would damage the company's competitive position, amounting to due process of law.

The hearing attracted a large audience. Several times Gregory curbed Miller's tendency to argue his points before witnesses had been called.

MacKillop said money used for lobbying or other political activities by the company and for publication of the PG&E Progress, a monthly magazine enclosed with consumers' bills, is not charged to the rate payers.

He said the PUC in previous rate decisions had held that money spent for sales promotion, such as advertising, is a legitimate expense chargeable to the rate payers.

Miller said in his opinion the advertising activities were wholly or partly political in character. Under his reasoning, this would also relieve the rate payer from contributing to this expense.

PUC staff engineer Greville L. Way read a statement saying that for rate making purposes it had been the commission's practice to exclude as allowable expenses dues to social clubs, expenditures for political purposes and, in part, donations to charitable organizations.

Miller, an instructor at the San Francisco Art Institute now living at Pacific Grove, in conducting his side of the case without counsel. With him are William Reich of Oakland, associate editor of the California Farm Reporter; John B. Neilands, University of California biochemistry professor, and Jonothan S. Barker, 25, Berkeley, U.C. graduate student in political science.

Gregory denied MacKillop's motion to dismiss the complaint, but said he could renew it later if he desired. He postponed a company motion to quash subpoenas which have been served on 17 highly placed officers of the company.

MacKillop said the subpoenas had been served "in an attempt to disrups the business" of the company and that he would gladly have the witnesses present when needed.

Philip Flint, Palo Alto councilman and physicist, testified briefly at the request of Miller.

He stated that PG&E purchased advertisements in opposition to a Palo Alto city ordinance which involved construction of towers for company power lines.

The attorney for PG&E conceded, in turn, that the company did spend money for the ads.

Stinson Beach Brochure Planned

Members of the newly-formed Stinson Beach-Bolinas Businessmen's Assn. Tuesday commissioned the Pacific Sun, weekly newspaper at Stinson Beach, to prepare a brochure publicizing Stinson Beach as a vacation area and a place to live.

The layout is expected to be ready for the association at its Aug. 13 meeting. Businessmen will distribute the brochure, according to Merril D. Grohman, promotion committee chairman.

The association heard a report from William F. Hoffman that 26 persons have signed a list in his store, Bill's Superette, stating their interest in having a trailer park established in Stinson Beach.

EARTHQUAKES HELD HAZARD TO DAMS

Warne Cites State's 20 Seismic Faults In Connection With Big Facilities Program

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Engineers planning the big California Water Project issued a progress report today on a potential hazard—earthquakes.

The report of the Department of Water Resources lists past earthquake investigations and anticipates future studies with modern electronic measuring and recording equipment.

"In the past, relatively few water supply facilities in the state have been damaged by earthquakes," said Director William E. Warne. "Only one dam — the Sheffield in Santa Barbara County — ever failed because of earthquake damage, and that was in 1925."

"However, damaging earthquakes have occurred repeatedly and can be expected to recur. We must take all earthquake facts into account to minimize future earthquake damage and to assure the safety of the State Water Project's facilities," he said.

He noted that California, with 20 active earthquake faults, is the second most seismic area in the United States, and ways of avoiding earthquake damage to dams, pumping plants and aqueducts must be sought. Alaska is the most active earthquake area.

The report notes that the All-American Canal in Southern California was displaced 14 feet, 10 inches by movement along the Imperial Fault in 1940.

MMWD Sets Budget At $3,006,159

The Marin Municipal Water District board yesterday adopted a budget for the fiscal year 1963-1964 calling for expenditures of $3,006,159.

Expenditures will be up $216,005 from 1962-1963. But Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said there will be no raise in water rates this year.

Revenue anticipated for this year in the budget, or "fiscal plan" as it is called by the district, is $3,007,250, compared to $2,676,500 in 1962-1963. Seeger pointed out that minimum rates and the service charge were raised during the last fiscal year.

The budget calls for an additional pump at the San Geronimo treatment plant, start of a second water line to southern Marin and planning for the move of the San Rafael corporation yard to Corte Madera.

The board accepted deeds for sites for a water tank in Tiburon, and pumps in Marin City and Lucas Valley.

LITTLE BOYS ALWAYS SEEM TO FIND WAY

Little 5-year-old Joey Pheffer of 1068C Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, really got rung up yesterday.

How he managed to catch two fingers of his left hand in a hole in a ladder rung of a slide near his home is still a mystery to San Rafael firemen.

He did such a good job, however, that the rung had to be removed from the slide with Joey's finger still caught. Then Joey's mother, Mrs. Marvin Pheffer, accompanied him to San Rafael Fire Station No. 3 at 30 Joseph Court, where the rung was cut from his hand.

He may be up on that slide again today.

Sewer Line Hookups Are Approved

Applications for 184 new sewer hookups were considered last night by the Novato Sanitary District, and all but 48 were approved.

The 48, including 34 in Novato Pine Subdivision, six in Jade Gardens and eight in Vineyard Terrace, must wait for annexation to the district, said Albert H. Tresch, manager.

Tresch recommended holding up call for bids on a new plant pump because he thinks the specifications aren't adequate to handle the pumping job. The board agreed to meet again at 8 p.m. Monday in the district office at the end of Davidson Street, Novato, to hear a report from District Engineer J. Warren Nute on the proposed specifications.

Areas approved for sewer hookups were Serro Vista subdivision units 4 and 5, 23 lots; Forest Park Unit 8, 48 lots; KaDen subdivision, 48 lots; Sheila Estates, 17 lots, and an extension of Jules Drive.

The board also discussed annexation proceedings for properties near Center Road so the lots can be hooked into sewer service while the road is torn up for a widening project.

Ministers Demonstrate Against Contractors

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Dozens of civil rights demonstrators, including 24 ministers singing "We Shall Not be Moved," were arrested today in New York City in a new attempt to force building contractors to hire more Negroes.

"We anticipate lots of arrests today," said one of the integrationists at the scene of the demonstration, a medical center construction project in Brooklyn.

By 11:30 a.m. (EDT) 58 persons—39 men and 19 women—had been arrested and hauled away to station houses where they were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The ministers stood shoulder to shoulder and sang the integrationist hymn, "We Shall Not be Moved." They were still singing as they entered a paddy wagon.

The demonstrators had tried to halt concrete mixers entering the Brooklyn construction site. Similar attempts earlier this week led to mass arrests.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy said there was no evidence that any top leaders of the major civil rights are communists or communist-dominated. Kennedy said communist efforts to infiltrate the civil rights groups had "been remarkably unsuccessful."

The attorney general's statements were made in a letter to Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.), member of the Senate Commerce Committee holding hearings on the administration's civil rights proposals.

Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. called yesterday for the creation of a special federal police force to protect integrationists.

In Columbus, Ohio, the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People (NAAWP), filed articles of incorporation with the Ohio secretary of state. Papers said the group was dedicated to "the cause of developing and preserving a law-abiding society."

Bees Sting 2 Firemen At Blaze

Two Corte Madera firemen were stung yesterday after two 11-year-old boys stirred up a yellowjackets' nest in starting a two and one-half hour fire in Mariner Highland east of Highway 101.

The boys started the fire about 1:30 p.m. when they ignited smoke bombs in some stumps to "smoke out bees," said Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson. The fire spread to some logs.

Firemen Lee Larson and volunteer Jack Forster were stung. Chief Nelson said that after surveying the scene he decided to let the fire burn itself out. "I almost died of bee stings once," said Nelson.

But at 2 p.m. frightened residents reported the fire was rising instead of subsiding. Firemen returned and played hundreds of gallons of water from four hoses on the scene until the blaze was out at about 4 p.m.

Peninsula Nudist Camp Is Approved

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Mateo County planning commission has approved unanimously a use permit for a country club which the operator says will be a nudist camp.

Lars Anderson, acting planning director, said today there's nothing in San Mateo's zoning ordinance to require members of a country club to wear clothes.

"How they dress or don't dress is up to them," he added.

The site is 52 acres near Pescadero. The permit was obtained by Eric Clough of Burlingame, 33, a landscape architect. Clough calls his operation Eden West.

Clough said he would start this weekend with about 40 families and would charge $125 a year per family. He plans a swimming pool and overnight accommodations.

"We don't expect any trouble," Clough said, adding "poison bushes surround the area."

Nixon Warns Against 'New' Russian Line

BERLIN (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon today warned against accepting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "coexistence line" which he said would perpetuate Communist domination of peoples who want to be free.

He told a news conference following visits to Red-run East Berlin that it is "the most wooly type of thinking" to believe that Soviet acceptance of a partial test ban means the Russians want to relax tension.

He said the Communists, instead of trying to end the cold war, have stepped it up in Latin America, Europe, Africa and Asia.

Nixon said in all negotiations with Khrushchev the United States should "insist on freedom for the peoples on whom Communist dictatorships have been imposed against their will, and the United States should use all its power—economic, diplomatic and ideological—to get some relief for repressed peoples."

"We should not buy Khrushchev's coexistence line in which he is saying he will draw a line down the world, keep what he has and try for more.

"I am not advocating a preventive war," he added. "But our goal must be not only peace, but peace in freedom.

"Every time Khrushchev huffs and puffs there is a crisis. When he stops huffing and puffing we say there is peace. But then there is more repression than ever.

"Some say Khrushchev now is beginning to end the cold war. The contrary is true. The Iron Curtain in Berlin is tighter than ever before.

"In Budapest there is a little less repression, but there is more now in Warsaw. The Communists are stepping up the cold war. They are expanding on all fronts.

"In Latin America now we have the greatest danger from Communism that ever existed there."

Nixon said "short of war" the United States should stand up to the Soviets. He cited what he called "two major foreign policy errors" of the United States, one made in President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration and the other in President John F. Kennedy's.

He said these were the American reaction to the Hungarian revolt in 1956 and the reaction to the Berlin Wall in 1961.

"Both errors were made for the same reason," he said. "There was justifiable concern that more action than was taken would have run great risks. But looking back now we were in a position where the Communists were willing to take greater risks to extend their system than we were to extend freedom."

Nixon held his news conference before flying to the West German city of Frankfurt.

He said he would drive from Kornberg Castle, near Frankfurt, to Bonn tomorrow and meet with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

From Germany he will go to Paris where he will lunch with President Charles de Gaulle.

Fire Volunteer Interest awakened

Volunteer interest in the Tamalpais Fire Department has been "reawakened" since the mass resignation of six firemen July 15, John L. Donhoff, chairman of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District Commission, last night told Almonte Improvement Club directors.

The club had asked for a special meeting for informational purposes. Donhoff was the only fire district board member present. Fire Chief Herbert Owen, whom firemen charged with being non-leader like, was not present nor was any of the six firemen, according to Mrs. Rose De Martini, club secretary.

A pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to noon Sunday at Central School in Fairfax will satisfy hungry visitors and raise money for the Fairfax Lions Club's youth activities.

Harry Fong and Samuel Spencer, co-chairmen of the event, said it is hoped that the breakfast will become an annual Lions Club event.

Would-Be Leaper Still At Large

Samuel M. Gibson, 48, of Sacramento, prevented from jumping off the Golden Gate Bridge Tuesday by a Marin County sheriff's deputy, was still at large today.

Gibson was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco soon after Deputy William Keaton dragged him from the rail of the bridge. The would-be suicide found an open door and walked from his padded cell at 2:45 a.m. yesterday.

San Francisco police said there has been no trace of Gibson since.

Five Boys Stone Snake To Death

Five Fairfax boys yesterday cornered a rattlesnake with nine rattles at Camp Tamarancho and stoned the snake to death.

The boys, who were hiking in the hills above Fairfax, were: Joe, 11, and Mike Doyle, 12; Gene Oppelt, 14; Paul Giorgi, 15, and Francis Moore, 15.

First Club Member Has A Dinner

The Half Way to Hell Club was organized at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon last night with a dinner in honor of its first and only member.

William P. Richardson, 38, a construction worker from Concord, qualified as charter member of the club because of a fall 50 feet into a safety net from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge seven years ago.

Members of the construction section executive committee of the National Safety Council, who have started the Half Way to Hell Club, reported that Richardson will not be alone long. They have names of several other construction workers in the Bay Area whose lives have been saved by safety devices.

Marin City's First Subdivision Named

Marin City's first subdivision has been named Oak Knolls and, when completed, is to include 96 single family homes and 100 one, two and three bedroom cooperative apartments.

The development, on hills half-surrounding the administration building, includes the initial group of 46 homes built on poles of which, according to John H. Tolan, 34 have now been sold. Tolan is treasurer of Barret Homes Inc. of San Francisco, builders. The redeveloper is James H. Scheuer.

Damascus Rebels Are Beaten Back

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Syrian officials today sought an international Arab congress to prevent further attempts to overthrow the government by followers of Egyption President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Radio Damascus reported the second attempted coup within a week last night.

It said pro-Nasser soldiers and civilians armed with machineguns attacked the presidential palace, the Damascus radio station and Syrian army headquarters.

The rebels, who favor Arab unity under Nasser, were beaten back in a fierce, 45-minute gun battle. Damascus radio said several persons were killed.

Reports from the city said Premier Salah Bitar told a news conference he would seek to arrange a multinational Baath Party congress in Damascus to study the questions and problems of Arab unity. Members of the Baathist Party now control the government in Syria and Iraq.

The news conference was held hours before the new fighting broke out in Damascus, which had been the scene of a bloody revolt attempt last Thursday.

Reports which followed the earlier fighting estimated that 1,000 persons were killed or wounded in the abortive coup.

More than 700 other persons were arrested and 28 executed by firing squad in the aftermath of the uprising, according to the reports.

Bitar told newsmen that Baathists from all Arabs countries would be invited to the congress. The move appeared to be Syria's answer to Nasser's announced intention to form an international Nasserite Party throughout the mid-east.

Four Injured In Head-On Collision Near Gate Bridge

Four persons were injured in a head-on auto collision on the Sausalito underpass near Golden Gate Bridge about 2:50 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A Cadillac sedan drive westbound by Clifford E. Clark, 45, of San Francisco, collided with a Jaguar roadster driven eastward by Stephen E. Tise, 22, of 30A Crescent Avenue, Sausalito, reported Officer John Courter.

Tise was admitted to Marin General Hospital with two broken ribs. His condition today was termed "good."

Clark's wife Elizabeth, 39, was treated at the same hospital for a cut right knee. Clifford Clark Jr., 17, and Paul Clark, 15, were treated for leg cuts.

Clark was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Leo Souza is chairman. On the committee are Margaret Azevedo, Bruce Moody, Edward C. Pino, Dr. Eugene Kilgore, Milton L. Stannard and George E. Butts.

The committee will be concerned with such problems as the San Francisco-Tiburon bridge, ferry boats, bus schedules and stops, Marin County airport, a Tiburon Peninsula heliport, Tiburon parking, rapid transit, and underground utilities.

Kuchel Urges Action Over Phony Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) appealed today for early Senate action on a House-passed bill to help persons involved in an Air Force bad-check deal several years ago.

The bill, before the Senate Judiciary Committee, would aid persons in the neighborhood of Parks Air Force Base, Livermore, who were innocently involved in the circulation of forged armed services pay checks.

In letters to the Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and other GOP colleagues on the committee, Kuchel said Congress has an obligation to restore good relations between Livermore area businessmen and defense installations by removing legal liability from anyone who negotiated or presented for payment one of the fraudulent checks.

The measure also would make possible refunds to those who had made restitution to the federal treasury for amounts obtained through the checks.

Kuchel noted that irregularities in the processing of payments to Parks Air Force personnel came to light late in 1957. He said investigation disclosed that 425 checks totaling $80,979 were illegally converted to personal use by two noncommissioned officers and one airman who confessed to forging signatures on the checks.

Teacher Credential Plan Called Sound

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An advisory group today called California's teacher credential revocation procedures "basically sound," but urged some revisions to protect teachers' rights.

There was nothing in the report to substantiate criticism by Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, that the State Board of Education has not given sufficient attention to the need to protect children in handling cases of teachers accused of sex offenses.

The report said "we believe that the quality of the people who deal with credentials cases . . . provides assurances of satisfactory performance."

The report was prepared by a task force after a year of study. The group included two law professors, Herbert L. Packer of Stanford University and Robert H. Cole of the University of California, and San Francisco attorney Robert A. Keller.

Recommendations included giving permission for representatives of the Department of Education and attorneys for teachers to present their sides of the case to the board, and for separate board meetings to hear credential cases.

Cases now are heard by hearing officers, and the board either accepts or rejects the officer's report.

Twist Records Taken From Home

The twist has been taken out of Fish Hatchery Canyon.

A stack of Elvis Presley and Chubby Checkers records, along with a record player, were reported stolen from the home of Janice Ward in the canyon north of Inverness Park.

Mrs. Ward was away on a vacation, but a caretaker, Roy Baker Elmo, told deputies a padlock had been picked and only the records and phonograph was missing.

Downtown Novato Due Fire Alarm System

Downtown Novato and Novato schools and hospitals should have a fire alarm system by February or March, the Novato Fire Commission learned last night.

Commissioners approved installation of a fire alarm system by low bidder Gamewell Corp. of Massachusetts at $52,494. Acting Fire Chief Jack Kidder said installation of a fire alarm system should begin within two weeks.

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Rotation Is Starting For Cambridge Troops

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — A three-day rotation of National Guard troops began today in this racial trouble spot, as city officials began a campaign of quiet persuasion to preserve a truce.

Some 400 National Guardsmen departed today, leaving 500 in the city. Col. William Boykin said another 300 would leave tomorrow and 230 others Saturday, with a fresh 400-man battalion arriving Saturday.

Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray and other town officials endorsed an agreement with Negro leaders announced Tuesday in Washington. They were working to head off a petition drive which would jeopardize the truce by blocking a town charter amendment opening restaurants, hotels and motels to Negroes.

City Atty. C. Awdry Thompson said today much of the work was going on behind the scenes.

"It would be tragic," Thompson said, "if the referendum were held and the charter amendment defeated."

The equal public accommodation amendment is the key point in the agreement, signed by white and Negro leaders in the Washington office of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Tuesday.

A group of 500 businessmen have vowed to force the amendment to a referendum by gathering 750 signatures of registered voters on petitions.

If the amendment is not petitioned, it will take effect Aug. 20.

Negro leaders have indicated they will adopt a wait-and-see attitude even if the amendment is forced to a public vote.

'Broken Axle Club' Gets Some Support

Mill Valley Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks and City Councilman Michael Wornum last night assured the "Broken Axle Club" of their support toward a city contribution for an improvement program for the unaccepted portion of Del Casa Drive from the end of present improvements on Elm Avenue to Manor Drive.

City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants told property owners that City Engineer Stanley M. Bala will survey the street to determine the cost to bring it up to city standards. (Bala was on the site this morning making his investigation, Almcrants said.)

Robert D. Huber, former mayor, representing the Mill Valley Tennis Club, said the club, too, is interested in the proposed improvements.

No property owner offered to contribute money to an assessment district, but a woman who lives on Fairway Drive said she would contribute $25 toward the program even though she lived outside of the immediate problem area.

Paul W. Clark of 36 Del Casa Drive acted as chairman for the club, so called because four cars are reported to have broken axles while traversing the pot-holed street.

Bank Is Robbed In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two young men robbed a teller at the Mission and 16th street branch of Bank of America today.

The bank said they got $1,616.

One drew back his sweater and showed teller Luella Burns a large revolver.

"I want all your money," he said.

Police descrfibed the two as Negroes, between 20 and 23 years old.

Lead Import Rules Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The house interior committee asked the ways and means committee today to give "favorable consideration" to regulating the imports of lead and zinc.

Interior forwarded to the ways and means a resolution written in the mines and mining subcommittee headed by Rep. Ed Edmonds (D-Okla.).

The two-page resolution said that the lead and zinc industry was in a distressed condition. It attributed this condition to the large volume of imports.

Dixie Trustees Approve Budget Of $1,323,378

Dixie School District trustees last night adopted a $1,323,378 budget for 1963-64 which should allow a reduction of 10 or 11 cents in the current tax rate.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis said reductions in the rate should result from cuts in override taxes, state loan repayment and bond redemption. The general fund tax rate will remain at $2.45. The total rate per $100 assessed valuation is now $3.23 and should be reduced to about $3.12.

The possibility of extra state funds which the district might receive if pending legislation is approved was discussed by the board. Willis said any new money would be needed in the 1964-65 school year for new personnel to operate two new schools scheduled to open in the fall of 1964. Trustees agreed to place such possible funds in a reserve fund for the following year rather than budgeting the money for 1963-64.

Plans have been approved for the Miller Creek and Terra Linda Valley schools and bids for construction should be opened late this year, Willis said.

The board adopted a bond redemption schedule for sale of $450,000 in bonds which will call for a 37-cent bond redemption tax rate in 1963-64, two cents less than the current rate.

At the request of the county superintendent of schools, the board agreed to make a classroom at the Bernard Hoffman School available next year for mentally retarded classes. Two classrooms were provided by the district last year.

An increase in the teaching staff was approved to allow hiring another half-time music teacher because of increasing enrollment in music classes.

The board adjourned until Aug. 1 for public hearing on the proposed budget.

Change Is Stolen

A thief used a wrench to twist open the locks of two coin changing machines in a self-service laundry at 265 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, yesterday, and took about $40 in change, owner Woodley B. Smith, 389 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, told sheriff's officers.

Hub Woman Asks $151,000 In Suit Against Dance Studio

A San Anselmo woman has filed suit in San Francisco Superior Court for $151,000 from the Arthur Murray Dance Studios and two of its alleged instructors.

The suit, filed yesterday, charged "fraud and deceit." The plaintiff is Helen M. Tesack, 875 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, described by her attorney, Francis J. Kelley, as in her 40s.

Also named as a defendant was Herbert Richards, who manager a Sutter Street San Francisco Murray studio. Richards said Miss Tesack never took a lesson in his studio nor did the two instructors ever work for him.

A named fifth defendant was, Gaspar Ronda, a former manager of a Murray studio in Stonestown. Richards said Ronda was in Los Angeles now. He said he didn't know if the two accused instructors ever worked at the Stonestown studio. Richards added Murray studios are locally operated businesses under franchises granted by Arthur Murray, Inc.

In the suit, Miss Tesack alleges the studio traded on her loneliness for $14,160 worth of lessons and that two instructors, by the same technique, got $51,000.

Miss Tesack said she loaned dance instructors Jack Cahill and Richard J. Michael $36,000 to open a nightclub and that Cahill got another $15,000 for medical expenses. She charges Cahill bought a car and other items with the money.

It is the second lawsuit filed by Miss Tesack against the Murray operation. In December of last year she sued for the $14,160 in dancing lessons which she claimed were taken under the persuasion she had a "wonderful hidden talent for dancing. The fact is," she said, she "moved awkwardly and tediously."

Attorney Kelly said Miss Tesack came to San Francisco from Seattle in 1961. She works as a secretary in the San Francisco USO.

Eleven-year-old Carl Damon Claras III, who has casts on both legs, has company in his misery—a baby robin which also has casts on both legs. Carl is recuperating at his home in Western Springs, Ill. Two Treated After Fight

Two participants in a fight in a Fairfax home yesterday at 7 p.m. were treated at San Rafael Hospital for injuries and one was jailed for disturbing the peace and assault and battery.

Held in Marin County Jail on $472.50 bail was Jesse Waldon Crider, 51, of 56 Jersey Road, San Anselmo.

Crider was arrested on a citizen's complaint by Mrs. Gladys Burke of 31 Bolinas Road, who told Fairfax police that Crider hit her husband, Cecil. Burke was treated for a cut head and Crider was examined for stomach pains at San Rafael General Hospital.

Kaiser Workers Getting Share

FONTANA (AP)—Cost savings for June totaled 1.48 million dollars under the Kaiser Steel Corp.-United Steelworkers sharing plan, it was announced today.

This means $470,000 will be distributed in paychecks to more than 4,700 eligible union employees.

The average payment for employees participating amounts to 62 cents an hour, a spokesman said.

It was the fourth month's operation for the unique plan.

California Gets Big New Batch Of Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California got a big batch of new laws today, ranging from a tax on "take-out" foods sold by drive-ins to revisions of the public schools' foreign language program.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's office announced the signing of 125 bills passed by the legislature at the regular session. Most of the new laws take effect Sept. 20.

The sales tax measure by Assemblyman Burt M. Henson (D-Ventura) will add an estimated 7.5 million dollars a year to state revenues by taxing presently exempt food taken from drive-in restaurants.

A series of education bills clarify and provide exemptions from the state's mandatory program of foreign languages for elementary schools and aimed at bolstering vocational education to curb the number of dropouts.

The measures include:

Languages — Allows State Board of Education to exempt any school district from requirement that foreign languages be taught starting in sixth grade if such requirement would impose an "unreasonable burden" on the district; AB 1850, 1874, Casey. Requires that languages are required in seventh and eighth grades in junior high schools as well as elementary schools; AB 375, Casey.

Dropouts — Authorizes school districts to establish prevocational courses for pupils with vocational aptitudes who otherwise might drop out of school; SB 1332, Stiern. Authorizes establishment of technical, agricultural and natural resources schools by county boards of education and operation of job placement service by such schools; SB 847, Lagomarsino.

Handicapped — Broadens scope of existing program of education for children handicapped in vision and hearing to include orthopedically handicapped children; SB 695, Rees. Specifies that minors hospitalized for mental illness shall be considered as physically handicapped for education purposes; SB 697, Rees.

Tax — Requires cancellation or refund of 1963 tax collected on property eligible for church exemption; SB 618, Pittman.

Juvenile — Permits juvenile court to transfer misdemeanor case to criminal court where minor was 18 when offense committed and court finds minor unfit for juvenile court; SB 162, Lagomarsino.

Wildlife — Requires reclamation board to consider fish and wildlife in acquisition of land; SB 419, Rodda.

Welfare — Requires copies of laws relating to public assistance be made available in county welfare offices; SB 902, Sturgeon. Requires state social welfare board to fix mileage and automobile allowance for welfare recipients; SB 919, Collier. Authorizes counties to contract with other counties or state to operate and maintain social services; SB 953, Sturgeon.

Sex — Redesignates sexual psychopaths as "mentally abnormal sex offenders" and requires such persons to pay for treatment in state hospitals; SB 1040, Rees.

Miller Avenue Parking Meters Due Discussion

Parking meters, proposed for the business section of Miller Avenue, will be discussed by the Mill Valley chamber of commerce board of directors at a noon meeting Wednesday in the school district board room at 26 Miller Avenue. There was no board meeting yesterday because of lack of a quorum, Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager, said.

Japan Hails Bay Youths Symphony

TOKYO (AP) — The California Youth Symphony Orchestra received today thunderous applause at its debut in a goodwill tour of Japan.

A near capacity audience of 2,000 Japanese and Americans applauded long after the last number was completed. Conductor Aaron Sten took six curtain calls.

The two and a half hour performance included Dvorsak's Symphony No. 5, Rossini's Semiramide Overture, Tchaikowsky's Andante Cantabile and Rimsky-Korsakow's Capriccio Espagnol.

Hidemaro Konoe, one of Japan's leading composers and conductors, led the mixed California and Asahi junior orchestra with his own composition Etenraku.

Loud applause rocked the Culture Hall, described by the visitors as "most beautiful," while Konoe shook hands with an American girl violinist at the end of her performance.

A Japanese youth commented "It's wonderful. It's just as good as a professional orchestra if not better." An adult said, "It's performance is really refined and powerful. I don't think any Japanese amateur orchestra can match the visitors."

The California orchestra of 43 boys and 47 girls between the ages of 12 and 18 will perform nine concerts in major cities throughout Japan under the auspice of the Asahi Shimbun, one of Japan's largest newspapers.

Today's performance was televised locally by a commercial station.

When the program ended, the audience applauded for more than 10 minutes.

Sten, after being called back six times, conducted an unscheduled number, one of American composer John Souza's marches, in response to the enthusiastic encores.

The young players responded to the applause by standing at the end of each number.

The Asahi Junior Orchestra is sponsored by the Asahi and is made up of nearly 200 teenagers. It added color to the concert by playing Wagner's Meistersinger Prelude under the baton of conductor Aiji Hibino.

The California Youth Orchestra is scheduled to leave Tokyo Friday for its next concert in Hamatsu, about 130 miles southwest of Tokyo, tomorrow evening. It will then tour western Japan for about 15 days.

Battery Charge Dropped In Court

A charge of interfering with an officer against John M. Cassell, 27, of 455 Canal Street, San Rafael, was dropped in Marin Municipal Court today at the request of the district attorney's office.

Cassell was charged with interfering with a police officer and battery June 3 when San Rafael police tried to arrest Herman K. Hofer at the Bermuda Palms Motel. Hofer pleaded guilty but Cassell asked for a jury trial. He was acquitted July 17 on the battery charge and won a hung jury on the other.

U.S. EMBASSY SEIZED BY CASTRO

This is the American Embassy building in Havana which has been seized by the Castro regime. A U.S. State Department spokesman said yesterday it was an apparently unprecedented action. He said even though the U.S. and Cuba have broken off diplomatic relations the building remains "our territory" and is used by the Swiss in their work in looking after U.S. affairs.

School Aide Rips Deaf Class Report

Daryl Hopkins, director of special education for the Marin County Schools Office, denied today that a critical report on hard of hearing classes in the county was "buried."

Hopkins, appearing on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" panel discussing the need for a special school for deaf and hard of hearing in the county, made the denial in answer to a telephoned question.

Hopkins emphasized that the $200 to pay for the report was put up by parents of deaf and hard of hearing children.

"We were all aware of what it contained and the recommendations were carried out," Hopkins said. In fact, he added, most of the recommendations were carried out two months before the report was received.

The report was prepared by Dr. Donald R. Calvert of the San Francisco Hearing and Speech Center and Jack M. Snyder, audiologist at University of California Medical Center, San Francisco.

It was based on conditions in the hard of hearing program in 1961-62 when the class was held in the basement of Short School, San Rafael. By the time the report came out in December of 1962, the class had been moved to Laurel Dell School, Hopkins said.

When asked about the report two weeks ago, Dr. Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools, said he did not remember it. Hollis was questioned about the report after he recommended a $240,000 school for the deaf in Marin. Marin County supervisors have budgeted $108,000 toward the project.

The report included a recommendation that integration of hard of hearing students into regular school classes should be attempted when the students are ready for it. This appeared to conflict with Hollis' recommendation for a separate center.

But Hopkins declared the center would be built adjacent to an existing or proposed school and both the teachers and pupils would be part of that school. Integration with regular classes would be possible, he said. (The special teachers for deaf and hard of hearing classes are employed by the county, not by any school district.)

Snyder, who also sat on today's radio panel, said he would prefer to see some but not all hard of hearing pupils integrated into other classes.

He emphasized that it is difficult and often takes a teacher years of work to prepare a pupil to join other classes.

Mrs. Dorothy Fischer, who teaches one of the county's three hard of hearing and deaf classes, said one class has moved seven times in 10 years. This does little to promote stability and security, she noted.

Fred Martinez, vice-president of the California Assn. of Parents of Hard of Hearing, praised the teachers of deaf in Marin, but said facilities are inadequate. With a central school it would be possible to have a specially trained principal, he suggested.

Hopkins said his office can easily provide instructors, but can provide classrooms only through short-term agreements with school districts.

The two classrooms used for deaf and hard of hearing at the county's Marindale School are now needed for orthopedically handicapped, Hopkins said.

Hopkins said Hollis' recommendation for the $240,000, four-classroom center was made under a recently passed state bill by which the state will pay half the cost, the county 40 per cent, and the school district in which the center is located, 10 per cent.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast from tape at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Funds Missing From Title Firm

NAPA (AP)—More than $100,000 is missing from the Napa Valley Title Co.'s accounts, deputy Dist. Attorney John J. Quigley said after two company officers were arraigned on charges of embezzling $10,100.

Donald F. Sturken, 38, executive vice president, pleaded guilty before Superior Judge William L. Blanckenburg yesterday. He will appear in court again Aug. 7 for a probation report.

Robert Mobley, 42, president, who did not enter a plea, was ordered to appear July 31.

Quigley said nearly all the loss were covered by insurance.

Important Meal

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — The greatest number of auto accidents happen between 11 a.m. and noon, says the North Dakota State University College of Agriculture. It attributes this mostly to inadequate breakfasts, which tend to create fatigue and irritation.

Lack Of Quorum

There was no meeting last night of the Sausalito Planning Commission because of lack of a quorum. The next meeting will be next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at which time a public hearing will be held on the general land use and circulation plan of Marinship, Robert L. Nissen, acting chairman, reported.

Counterfeiting Ring Operations

HAYWARD (AP)—A counterfeit ring that reportedly printed .45 million dollars in phony money allegedly faked other things as well.

U.S. Secret Service agents said yesterday they found a press used by the gang to counterfeit county welfare certificates, money orders, checks and driver's licenses.

Agent in charge Tom Hanson said his men acted on an anonymous phone tip and found the three-foot by 18 inch press in a Hayward ravine. He said the press wasn't suitable for faking money.

Six persons have been charged with conspiracy to counterfeit in the bogus money operation.

Trampoline Mats Reported Stolen

A thief walked off with several trampoline mats from the unoccupied trampoline center in the Nave Shopping Center off South Novato Boulevard, Robert Nave of San Rafael told Novato police yesterday.

Someone had also shattered the windows of the center with B-B gun shots between July 10 and 22, Nave added.

AT WARD TRIAL — A woman is helped to her feet by a policewoman today after being knocked down when spectators surged forward as Christine Keeler left the Old Bailey Court in London after giving testimony in the Stephen Ward vice trial. (AP Wirephoto)

Spectators Throw Eggs, Boo As Miss Keeler Leaves Court

LONDON (AP) — Spectators three two eggs at Christine Keeler and booed her angrily today when she left the Old Bailey Court after giving further testimony in the Stephen Ward vice trial.

One egg hit a news photographer on the head. The second splashed on the sleeve of a policeman.

Miss Keeler hurriedly entered a taxicab and drove away.

A crowd of several hundred milled around outside the court building when Miss Keeler—the 21-year-old play-for-pay girl who caused John D. Profumo to resign last month as Britain's minister of war—tripped down the steps at the luncheon adjournment.

Women hissed and there were shouted insults.

The photographer who accidentally became an egghead was Bob Dear of the Associated Press.

Christine had been recalled by defense counsel James Burge for questioning about her use of marijuana, a narcotic smoked in cigarettes. She had touched on that in her first appearance in the witness box Monday.

Today she testified that Ward had introduced her to marijuana in 1961 when she was living at one of his flats.

Vickie Barrett, 22, a prostitute, testified yesterday she used Ward's apartment as a workshop on some 30 occasions, sometimes beating her customers with canes or horsewhips to give them sexual gratification.

Her normal fee, she said, was five pounds ($14) with whipping extra at one pound ($2.80) a stroke. She said Ward collected the money but never gave her a penny.

Ward has pleaded innocent to three counts of living off the proceeds of prostitution and two of procuring.

ROCKY VS. BARRY

Strategists Look Over GOP Camps

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Strategists in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's political planning division take calmly the accounts of Sen. Barry Goldwater's growing strength in such states as Arkansas, Maryland and Idaho.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator are the two men most prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination for president next year, although neither has formally announced as a candidate.

Many observers think Goldwater is well ahead. Even Rockefeller's most ardent supporters concede the governor lost ground this year when he married the divorced mother of four children.

Nevertheless Rockefeller is mounting a strong campaign for the nomination.

Reports of Goldwater strength are interpreted here not by numbers of states but by delegate strength in the nominating convention next July.

Details such as these occupy practical politicians, rather than the liberal versus conservative philosophical debate that is attracting public attention.

There will be 53 delegations at the convention—the 50 states plus the District of Columbus, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. They will comprise 1,308 delegates. A majority of 655 votes will be needed for nomination.

This is the way the Rockefeller strategists view the situation:

Goldwater's main strength lies in the South, Southwest and Midwest. Give him every vote in every delegation from the 28 states in those regions and he would have 573—short of the nomination.

The nine big industrial states—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and California—will have a total of 512 votes. Rockefeller is counting on strong support from them.

He also looks to the 70 votes in the rest of New England, the 60 votes in the western states of Oregon, Washington and Colorado and to the 37 votes in the combined delegations from Alaska, Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Other states are harder to classify, even in general terms.

The arithmetical exercises assume, of course, a convention showdown between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

Initial balloting may see big delegations holding out for favorite sons—Govs. George Romney of Michigan or William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, both mentioned as serious candidates.

Some observers are talking of a Rockefeller-Goldwater stalemate that could send the convention searching for other candidates. Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky has been mentioned, in addition to Romney and Scranton. So has Richard M. Nixon, former vice president and the party's candidate in 1960.

Durham Schools Must Integrate

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—The city of Durham must integrate all elementary and junior high schools this fall and its senior high schools next year.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edwin M. Stanley yesterday issued an order saying parents of Negro children can choose their schools if they make application by Aug. 12.

He told the Durham Board of Education to submit by next May 1 a plan under which senior high schools will be "totally and completely" desegregated in 1964. Assignments for high school students, both Negro and white, will remain as they are for the 1963-64 term.

Few Political Benefits For Governors Seen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Scarred Democrats and Republicans emerged today from the 55th annual Governors' Conference with few political benefits to harvest.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who once was considered the leading candidate for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, picked up most of the publicity on the civil rights issue that seems to offer him his best opportunity to return to the front.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) who was represented by supporters, nevertheless didn't lose any ground among GOP state executives who believe he is the man to beat.

GOP Gov. George Romney of Michigan, counted as a possible entry in the Republican presidential contest, chalked out a position as a strong civil rights advocate but as an engry critic of more federal direction of the national economic ills.

Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, who fended off questions about the possibility of a favorite-son candidacy, glowed over the selection of Cleveland for the 1964 conference.

To Republican Gov. John Anderson Jr. of Kansas came the honor of the conference chairmanship after only two years in office.

He succeeds Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington. The chairmanship rotates between the parties in alternate years.

The Republicans had to be declared the publicity winners. But the Democrats kept their lines intact for a pitch for Southern state support of Kennedy's certain bid for re-election next year.

WIDOW OF JUDGE FOUND STRANGLED

Intensive Manhunt Under Way For Slayer In Santa Monica

Santa Monica (AP)—An intensive manhunt was under way today for the killer of Mrs. Charlotte Crawford, 70-year-old widow of a prominent judge and businessman.

Mrs. Crawford was found beaten and strangled yesterday afternoon in her second-story bedroom.

She was the widow of Samuel J. Crawford, former Santa Monica police court judge, banker and director of the Metropolitan Water District. He died of a heart attack in September 1959.

Detectives said the woman apparently was slain by a burglar whom she may have surprised ransacking her home for money. Bureau drawers were found pulled out and personal effects were strewn on the floors.

Mrs. Crawford's body was discovered by her daughter and son-in-law, who became alarmed when she did not answer their telephone calls. Officers said she apparently was killed Tuesday night.

Detectives said they found a man's shoe prints on the blood-spattered floor of the victim's home.

The woman's husband was a former Beach Bar Assn. president, an official of the Santa Monica bank and First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., and a director of the Long Beach Amusement Co.

'Fannie Hill Is Banned In New York As Obscene Book

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18th century novel about a London prostitute, which recently has appeared on several "best seller" lists, was banned in New York state yesterday under a permanent injunction.

State Supreme Court Justice Charles Marks ruled that the book, "Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure," was obscene. He made permanent a temporary injunction he issued on June 28.

His decision prevents the publication, sale and distribution of the novel, better known as "Fannie Hill," which was written in 1749 by John Cleland and first published in London.

Marks issued the temporary injunction at the request of Leo Larkin, corporation counsel of New York City, who complained that the novel was "obscene, lurid, perverse and immoral."

Attorneys for G. P. Putnam's Sons of New York, a publishing house which has issued a new edition of "Fannie Hill," argued that the novel was not obscene.

IL DUCE SPEAKS — Benito Mussolini, Italy's war-time leader, addressed a crowd in central Italy in 1943. Twenty years ago today Mussolini was put under arrest by King Victor Emanuel II, marking the beginning of the end for the Fascist leader. He was killed by partisans in 1945. (AP Wirephoto)

20 Years Ago Mussolini Came To Beginning Of End

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—"I want to make a mark on history with my will, like a lion with his claws."

The words were Benito Mussolini's.

He made his mark. History recalls that he made Italy's trains run on time. History records that he made war a national policy, and history notes that 20 years ago today Benito Mussolini came to the beginning of the end.

That was the day King Victor Emmanuel III put Mussolini under arrest. The shock of Allied landings in Sicily 16 days earlier had been too great for tottering Italy. Its Fascist leadership split. The military stepped in. Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio replaced Mussolini as premier.

German forces freed Mussolini and helped him set up a Fascist republic in northern Italy. The end came on April 28, 1945, when the tommy guns of Italian partisans riddled Mussolini and his mistress, Claretta Petacci.

Fascism's flame still burns in Italy. A million and a half Italians voted the Fascist ticket in national elections last April. Thousands of young Fascists still thrill to a street fight with Communists — as their black shirt fathers did 40 years ago.

But the Fascist vote represented only 5 per cent of the electorate, and there is no apparent heir to Mussolini, creator of fascism whose doctrine inspired Adolf Hitler.

Mussolini came to power in 1922, just before his 40th birthday. Thousands of his followers marched on Rome and forced the king to turn over the government to Mussolini.

The fascists made violence an instrument of policy. A Socialist deputy denounced Fascist violence and coercion in elections. He was murdered. Other political opponents were jailed.

Mussolini, once a Socialist himself, said Italy needed a strong and vigorous leader. He took the title Il Duce—the leader.

He replaced Italian parliamentary institutions with what he called a corporate state—an economy of privately owned industry directed by the state through "corporations" of business, labor and government representatives.

He preached war.

"War alone brings up to its highest tension all human energy and puts the stamp of nobility upon the peoples who have the courage to meet it," he said in 1932.

Four years later Mussolini led Italy against Ethiopia. Then came the "stab in the back" against France and World War II.

Mussolini had become Adolf Hitler's partner. It was soon clear Hitler was the dominant partner.

Time and law have forced some changes in Italy's postwar Fascist party, the Italian Social Movement.

It is no crime to be a Fascist or to organize in a political party under an innocuous name like the Italian Social Movement. But it is against the law to glorify the Fascist era, to use its slogans and banners, and to publicly praise its ideals.

No attempt is made in the average history book to explain the Fascist era, or to justify it. The accounts are straight, and somewhat thin.

There is an Italian saying: "What has been has been."

Stolen Greenbrae Car Found Undamaged

A car stolen in Greenbrae last Thursday night was found in San Francisco late Tuesday, Police Chief Howard Clark of Larkspur reported.

Two girls saw a 1961 Chrysler sedan stolen from the home of B. P. McCarthy at 15 Via Hermosa by two teen-aged boys. San Francisco police reported the car found in the 200 block of Twelfth Avenue, apparently undamaged.

Fisher Real Hero In Giants' 4-3 Win

Maybe you can't follow the game without a scorecard. But you can look right at it and still misjudge the pitchers.

Yesterday's ninth - inning come - from - behind 4-3 San Francisco Giants win over the New York Mets at Candlestick Park is a case in point.

The box score says: Winning pitcher, Billy Hoeft. Losing pitcher, Al Jackson.

But Jackson was, in many ways, the best pitcher. He held the Giants to a Jim Davenport two-out single in the second, an Ernie Bowman leadoff single in the third, and Davenport's game-winning two-run double in the ninth.

Both Jackson and Mets Manager Casey Stengel agree that lefty Al pitched one of his best games. Then what happened? Let Jackson tell you:

"That ball (in the ninth) which hit Felipe Alou was a fast ball which should have struck him out. But I got it in a bit too close and it just brushed his trousers.

"Then I hit Willie McCovey with a curve that didn't break."

Larry Burright, Mets shortstop, let in one run when he messed up Orlando Cepeda's grounder. Came Davenport's double and—boom—defeat for a three-hit hurling performance.

Giants Manager Alvin Dark, while ready to praise the game winner, Hoeft, "who sure throws strikes," nonetheless said Jack Fisher actually saved the game.

Fisher was the second man in relief for starter Jack Sanford, the Giants 24-game winner of 1962 who has lost six straight and left in the seventh yesterday trailing 3-0.

After the Giants made it 3-1 in the seventh, the Mets got to Al Stanek. Frank Thomas' 1,501st hit of his major league career wrenched free of Harvey Kuenn's glove at third for a single.

Ron Hunt's double over Alou's head sent Thomas to third and Stanek to the showers with nobody out. Fisher made Joe Christopher foul out to Kuenn, calmly scooped up Burright's squeeze bunt and threw out Thomas at the plate, and tossed out Jackson.

"I'm going to use Fisher more in short relief after this," resolved the thoroughly convinced Dark.

"He has been doing this real good."

And what about Sanford? The box score he was treated roughly with six hits and three runs.

"Sanford pitched all right," said Dark in behalf of a man who hasn't won since June 18.

"It's tough to pitch without your team getting you any runs. Sanford just hasn't had many runs recently."

And what did Hoeft do? Retired the Mets in order in the ninth, striking out two.

Today, the Giants went for their fourth straight victory with Billy Pierce, 3-7, against the Mets' Galen Cisco, 6-8.

Li'l League Semis Tonight At Novato And Twin Cities

The Little League season in Marin County is heading for an exciting climax tonight and Saturday afternoon when the semi-final and championship games will determine the District Three Representative at the sectional tournament, which will be held this year in Novato.

The two games tonight which will determine Saturday's finalists match Gallinas Valley and Novato at Novato and Twin Cities against Strawberry at Twin Cities.

The main issue at Novato seems to be whether the Gallinas Valley boys can continue to come up with superb pitching, which they will surely need if they are to defeat the hardhitting Novato club. In their first two tournament games, the Gallinas Valley boys displayed unconscionable stinginess in the manner in which they surrendered runs and hits. Monday evening Steve McNally hurled a no-hitter at San Geronimo and accounted for 17 of the 18 putouts recorded with strikeouts! He also blasted a home run in the 11-0 rout.

Tuesday night Dennis Taylor dueled Barry Beringer of Hamilton Air Force Base through eight scoreless innings, and then hit a home run in the ninth to win 1-0. He probably found himself the butt of some ribbing by his teammates, though, because he was touched for three hits and struck out "only" 14.

Novato has ridden into the semi-final round on the strength of Bill Krueger's four hitless innings of relief in the first game and some clutch hitting, mainly by Jimmy Morrow, in both contests. Morrow won the first game 4-2 with a two-run double that broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning against the San Rafael A.L. Tuesday he slugged a three-run homer to climax a seven-run fourth in an 8-4 win over Marinwood.

KTIM BROADCAST

The Gallinas Valley-Novato game will be broadcast by KTIM at 6 o'clock tonight. John Pagliaro will handle the microphone chores.

Twin Cities and Strawberry both had a difficult path to the semi-finals. Twin Cities romped past the Mill Valley American League Monday night 6-1, but Tuesday they were almost upended singlehandedly by pitcher Gary Welsh of the San Rafael N.L. Welsh hit two homers and allowed only five hits, but he could not handle Twin Cities' Mickey Johnson. Johnson had three hits, including a two-run homer, and scored the winning run in a 3-2 victory after singling to open the bottom of the sixth inning.

Strawberry beat Tiburon in the first round 5-3, and then ran into the Mill Valley N.L. Tuesday. Three times Strawberry took a lead on Mill Valley, and three times the plucky Nationals tied them. Finally, in the seventh inning, Strawberry scored three times and held on to win 8-6.

MORE TOURNEYS

The Sectional tournament at Novato will match teams from all over the northern part of California. There are four sectional tournaments in the state, and the survivors of these play for the state title at Sunnyvale. After that the trail leads to the Regional playoffs, which will be held this year in either Portland, Ore., or Reno, Nev., and the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

Last year the Marin County champion, Novato, won its sectional playoff and finished fourth in the state.

Cub Coach May Be 'Manager' Of Year

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Barring a complete disintegration of his forces, Bob Kennedy of the incredulous Chicago Cubs appeared a certainty today to be voted 1963 National League manager of the year.

But hold on there. How can one bestow a managerial accolade upon a coach, even if he has been designated as head coach?

Cub owner Philip K. Wrigley, insists there is no manager on his club.

Kennedy, in his first year with the Cubs, is last on the list of 12 Chicago coaches appearing in the National League green book. But he is the acknowledged boss on the field. So much so that he's been there all year. In each of the past two years, the Cubs rotated their "head coaches," using at least three per season.

Regardless of his title, Kennedy has done a magnificent job. He has had the Cubs, a pre-season pick to battle the Mets and Colts for eighth place, in pennant contention virtually from opening day.

Yesterday the third place Cubs defeated Cincinnati 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Dick Ellsworth to advance to within a game of the second place St. Louis Cardinals who were beaten 8-1 by the Milwaukee Braves.

Nine games over .500, the Cubs are eight games in back of the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers who defeated Pittsburgh Pirates for the seventh straight time, 5-1. San Francisco's fourth place Giants eked out a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets and Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-3.

PURKEY BEATEN

Ellsworth, a 20-game loser last year, outpitched Cincinnati's Bob Purkey for his 14th victory. He has lost seven. Trailing 1-0, the Cubs scored twice after two out in the seventh on back-to-back doubles by outfielders Lou Brock and Ellis Burton. Andre Rodgers had singled earlier in the inning.

Don Drysdale, who almost never loses in July, posted his fourth victory of the month as the the Dodgers increased their first place lead over the Cards to seven games. The big right-hander allowed five hits, struck out eight and walked one.

Choo-Choo Gets A Boo-Boo On Chin

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Catcher Choo-Choo Coleman of the New York Mets was expected to sit out today's San Francisco Giant game, but is not as badly hurt as first feared.

He suffered a jaw injury while warming up Jay Hook in the seventh inning of yesterday's Giant-Mets battle. A curve ball took a bad bounce off home plate and hit Coleman.

An X-ray later determined that there was no fracture. Coleman was expected to be back in action tomorrow or Saturday.

Giants Won't Let Oakland A.L. Team Use Candlestick

Chances of the Kansas City Athletics of the American League coming to the Bay Area in the next year or two seemed dim today.

President Horace C. Stoneham of the San Francisco Giants told Mayor George Christopher he could not grant a request that any other baseball team be permitted Candlestick Park for its home games.

The A's have been rumored possibly headed for Oakland, which hopes to have a stadium complex completed in a couple of seasons.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher conferred with Stoneham yesterday concerning the possibility that an Oakland team could use Candlestick Park in the meantime.

The mayor said Stoneham pointed out to him that one of the cornerstones of the stadium contract that brought the Giants west from New York was exclusive use of the stadium.

The mayor agreed that the Giants had a 33-year contract to play there and it was up to them to give permission to any other team to play there.

Christopher said Stoneham opposed this because the Giants would get no profit from another team's playing there, because the stadium would deteriorate faster from more use, and because Giant attendance might be lower.

Christopher said that he felt a second major league team would help the Bay Area, but he added that he would not press the Giants further.

"If the team is coming to Oakland, it will come anyway," he said.

Junior Olympics Slated Tomorrow

San Rafael Recreation Department's annual Junior Olympics, track and field competition for boys and girls of ages seven to 13, will be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 4 p.m. at Terra Linda High School. Director Joseph Rodota has announced plans for a parade which will precede the athletic events.

Among the activities will be the 40-yard dash, standing and running broad jumps, softball throw and running high jump. Youngsters interested in competing may sign up at their neighborhood playground.

Old Time Hurler Makes Pitch For Return Of The Spit Ball

CONNOLLY

Whenever there is a rumble in the inner sanctums of baseball something usually happens. And right now there is a drive to bring back the spitball, outlawed since 1920.

For a sport that has ranked tops for more than 100 years, you'd think the powers-that-be would leave it alone. But, no. Take this year for instance. The new strike zone came into being and for no reason at all the old balk rule, which has been on the statute books since the game began, has practically been abolished.

One of the famous old spitball pitcher years ago — Burleigh Grimes, recently made a pitch for the return of the saliva throw by commenting, "It's ideal for fellows with no breaking ball."

"Pitchers," explains Grimes, "have been legislated against by rule changes that have hurt them physically and artistically.

"Count the pitchers who were hit in the head by line drives. There were five in 1962. And during all of my pitching days, when the spitter was in style, I saw only one pitcher hit by a line drive."

GRIMES, AN old Dodger hurler, quit in 1934, which was 14 years after the ban was placed on the spitball. He admits, in a recent article in the St. Louis Sporting News, that he never could have amassed a 270-212 pitching record if it weren't for the moist ball.

The new strike zone, according to Grimes, is harmful.

"Pitchers are wilder today because the strike zone is as high as it is wide—little more than a box. You can't shrink the strike zone and enliven the ball without hurting the pitchers," is the parting shot of a great oldtime pitcher.

Since the demise of the spitter a lot of pitchers have been accused of using it, especially Lew Burdette of the Braves. But I think most of the umpires in baseball today can't detect a spitter from any other pitch.

FRANK SHELLENBACK, in charge of the Giant farm system, was one of the 17 spitball pitchers in the majors when the pitch was outlawed. He later came to the Coast League and was allowed to use it because he was a registered spitball pitcher at the time it was barred.

Shellenback has always maintained that the spitball should never have been outlawed. He thinks the splurge of homerun hitters came into existence because of ban on the saliva pitch.

One of the real minor league spitballers was Adrian "Spider" Baum, who threw it cautiously.

"ONCE OUT of every 10 times I loaded the spitter, I really threw it," the Ol' Spider used to relate. "It was a decoy."

Baum claimed the spitter wasn't a whole lot different from a fast ball with a good hop on it.

Next year, when the rules committee meets, it might be well for them to declare a moratorium on pitching changes before they write the death warrant for a game that needs no more changes, except perhaps the lowering of the prices to see it played.

A SMASHER — Twelve-year-old Bobby McKinley, whose brother, Chuck, won the 1963 Wimbledon tennis championships, smashes a powerful serve during a workout in St. Louis. The youngster is outpacing his older brother as a winner in the net sport at this stage of his career. (AP Wirephoto)

Chuck's Little Brother Seen As Tennis 'Comer'

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Blond Bobby McKinley, 12, isn't awed that his brother Chuck won the championship at Wimbledon thsi year.

He is too busy playing tennis. And for his age, he's out-pacing his famous brother.

Bobby recently won the St. Louis Ditrict Tennis Tournament and the Missouri Valley singles championship at Kansas City for boys 14 and under. Chuck never won these honors.

The youngster, who wallops a tennis ball with the aggressiveness of an adult, has won about 30 trophies—about half for tennis and half for table tennis. At age 12, Chuck's only trophies were for table tennis.

Bobby started playing tennis when he was 10. He and Chuck had the same coach, Bill Price, when they started at the YMCA as table tennis players. Price, a former international player in the indoor table sport, is regarded as one of the top outdoor tennis coaches in the country.

"The record of his big brother has made no difference in Bobby's attitude and he hasn't been bothered by the fame Chuck has achieved.

Bobby agrees. "There's no needling by any of my opponents and it hasn't made a bit of difference in the atmosphere at matches or in my play. Naturally I'm Chuck's greatest rooter. But I've never played him."

The two resemble each other more than in looks. Bobby has displayed some outbursts of temper on the courts, but Price says: "Bobby seems to have controlled his temper during the past few months. He is concentrating."

The youngster's next big stop is at Kalamazoo, Mich. for the nationals, where he will compete against boys 16 and under.

"I don't expect to do much in the nationals," he says. "But it ought to be good experience to be beaten by some good boys."

Eddie Dove Hurt, Passers Star In 49er Workouts

MORAGA (UPI) — Defensive halfback Eddie Dove of the San Francisco 49ers was expected to be back in uniform today despite his slightly sprained ankle.

The veteran defensive back incurred the injury yesterday.

The team worked out on its passing attack and Coach Red Hickey praised the tossing of quarterbacks John Brody, Dick Norman, Bob Waters and rookie Bob White.

Driver Involved In Track Mishap

Dave Crumley of San Rafael was involved in one of a series of accidents in the stock car races at the Petaluma Fairgrounds Saturday night.

Crumley smashed into the fence at the north turn, and later was taken to a Petaluma hospital to check minor injuries. He was released from the hospital the same evening.

U.S. Heavily Favored In Warsaw Meet

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Talk of world records was in the air today as the American track and field team tapered off training for the meet against Poland tomorrow and Saturday.

The American men and Polish women were heavily favored to win.

Men's coach Payton Jordan named Henry Carr of Phoenix, Ariz., to both relay teams, as well as his individual specialty, the 200-meter dash. Carr owns the world record in the 220-yard dash.

Coaches had been holding the speedster back to let him rest an old football injury, but, Jordan said, "he now seems to be ready for a serious assault" on the stop watch.

Carr takes the place of Paul Drayton in the 400 meter relay. Drayton's faulty baton pass against Russia last Saturday disqualified the American team.

Fifteen hundred meter star Cary Weisiger was the only runner to turn out for early morning practice today as others rested for Friday opening events. Some had trouble sleeping in the non-air-conditioned hotel.

ATHLETES RELAXED

Except for that, both men and women seemed to relish the relaxed atmosphere of Poland after the Soviet Union, where the men squeaked through to their slimmest victory and the women suffered their worst defeat in five meets with the Russians.

By MOSCOW standards, Warsaw is a small, easy-to-get-around town. The Americans entertained themselves shopping, walking, visiting the soda fountain and movie at the U.S. Embassy and just sitting out on the front stoop of the hotel, sometimes barefooted. Some went to the sandy beaches of the Vistula River, where, unlike back home, bikinis are the rule.

The only new setback in training was aggravation of vaulter John Pennel's old back injury in a hard fall from a 15-foot practice jump last night. Pennel said his back still hurts but he expects to compete.

Spark Plug Wins

DEL MAR (AP) — Spark Plug paid $8.60 after a length decision in Del Mar's Inaugural Handicap yesterday.

BOMBERS' BENCH TERRORIZES A.L.—Yankee Manager Ralph Houk says that his bench strength this year is the best in the major leagues, and John Blanchard, left, is one reason why few dispute him. Blanchard has been playing right field for the ailing Roger Maris, right, and yesterday he hit his fourth home run in three games, a three-run clout which helped demolish the Angels 8-4. Maris hit for Whitey Ford in the seventh inning and, naturally, got a single. (AP Wirephoto)

WHITEY FORD KEY MAN AS . . .

Yankees Bombing Along Toward Another A.L. Title

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The catchers are carrying this ball club," said Yankee catcher Elston Howard.

"We've got the best infield in baseball," said Ralph Houk, Yankee manager.

"New York's got that great overall power," said Johnny Pesky, Red Sox manager.

"They've come up with a couple of fine young pitchers in Al Downing and Jim Bouton," said Bill Rigney, Los Angeles manager.

So maybe they've all forgotten Whitey Ford? At least no one seems to be talking about him. Ah, well, maybe there's no reason to. He's just won 12 in a row, 16 in all and, as usual, is shouldering the burden of the important pitching chores as the Yankees go bombing along toward another pennant.

The 34-year-old left-hander was no more excited than a businessman is walking to the office yesterday as he turned in a workman-like 8-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, the Yanks' sixth straight. He allowed only six hits and struck out eight before giving way to a pinch-hitter after seven innings.

Minnesota's Twins got good pitching performances from Dick Stigman and Jim Kaat in a double blanking of Cleveland, 9-0 and 5-0; Kansas City swept two from Boston, 5-2 and 7-6; Baltimore overcame a four-run deficit and beat Washington 8-5 and Chicago defeated Detroit 3-1.

Ford's victory put him in a tie with the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and the Giants' Juan Marichal as the majors top winner of the season. And he extended his own mark as the most consistent winner in the history of the game among pitchers who have won 100 or more. His lifetime mrak of 191-74 for a percentage of .721 leads the all-time list. Spud Chandler is next at 109-43, .717.

John Blanchard, a converted catcher pressed into service in the Yanks' injury-riddled outfield, once again provided the big hitting. He drove in four runs on a homer and two singles and scored twice.

Minnesota's Stigman was supported by an 11-hit attack that included two homers by Don Mincher and four-baggers by Rich Rollins and Johnny Goryl in the first game victory.

Jim Hall's ninth inning homer broke a scoreless duel in the nightcap and Kaat put it out of reach with a three-run blast.

He struck out 11 and allowed only six hits.

Expect Compromise In Hunting Snafu

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A Cameron-Davis compromise is expected to unravel the big hunting season snafu today.

Sen. Ronald G. Cameron, (D-Auburn), and Assemblyman Pauline L. Davis, (D-Portola), agreed yesterday to extend the regulatory powers of the State Fish and Game Commission for two years, except on deer in the far northeast.

The Senate approved the compromise last night 34-0. The Assembly is expected to follow suit.

Cameron and Mrs. Davis are chairmen of the Fish and Game Committees of the two houses.

They battled over the hunting rules to a deadlock in the general session. The result was defeat of a routine bill to extend the commission's powers.

SUNDAY OPENINGS

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk ruled that meant the 1962 rules remained in force, meaning Sunday openings for most seasons.

The Fish and Game Department said it would mean a $148,000 loss in hunting license fees, since many hunters would stay home.

Under the compromise the 1963 rules will apply on deer in the far northeastern counties—Modoc, Lassen, and parts of Shasta and Siskiyou—until changed by the legislature.

Mule deer in those counties roam across the line into Oregon. The legislature hopes for a two-state agreement on hunting rules.

LISTON GETS BIG WELCOME AT AIRPORT

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston returned to a hometown hero's welcome late last night.

A cheering crowd estimated at 500 thronged the observation deck and concourse of Stapleton Field, the municipal airport, as Liston arrived.

He defended his boxing crown at Las Vegas, Nev., Monday night by knocking out Floyd Patterson in the first round.

"Denver is proud of you," Mayor Tom Currigan said. He handed Liston a silver dollar minted in Denver.

Blame Lawmakers For Tragedy

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE LAWMAKERS OF CALIFORNIA:

Seven people drowned in another sea tragedy. You are to blame! You could have prevented it as you could have prevented other similar tragedies of a like nature. What excuse have you?

You have limited the number of passengers on larger craft. Why haven't you done the same on small boats?

You have limited the number of persons in the front seat of a car, but you have closed your eyes to the overloading of a small boat. You will condemn a house or a bridge that is considered unsafe, but you allow a boat that should carry no more than two or three persons to put out from land into dangerous waters with seven occupants. Why?

You know full well that a 14-foot boat driven by a 40 H.P. motor can be upset when hitting a medium sized wave or by a nervous hand on the tiller.

You have made it illegal for a person to travel with a loaded gun in his car, presumably to protect the passengers in said car, yet you allow a man to operate a 14-foot boat with six passengers—all in danger of death by drowning. Why?

WHO IS to blame if not yourselves? Not the man operating the boat. He is likely a law-abiding citizen—a good fellow who likes to give other people pleasure, and is ignorant of the risks involved. He obeys the traffic laws on the highway. He would obey any law pertaining to small boat operation — if there were such laws.

Is the resort or harbor operator to blame? I don't think so. Most operators won't allow one of their own boats to leave the harbor when the water is rough, and I have yet to learn of a boat-renter that would permit more than four people in an 18-foot, wide-beamed, ultra-safe skiff, let alone a 14-footer. Certainly they would not allow seven people in one of their boats under any conditions. But when a man owns his own boat and there is public launching, the operator loses control. He may—and usually does—warn against rough water and overloading, but he has no legal right to prevent the launching.

NO, GENTLEMEN, the ones responsible for such tragedies as just happened are yourselves. It has been in your power to pass laws restricting the number of persons in a small boat. It is in your power to give the harbor master the legal right to prevent a small boat from being launched. You can set the number of passengers allowable in a small craft as you have for a party boat. You can hold the harbor master responsible if such laws are violated. In short, concise language. You must either do this or be morally responsible for any future tragic ending to a pleasure trip on our inland waters.

Seals Get Good News On Mantha

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League had one good bit of news and one bad bit today.

All-star defenseman Mo Mantha was reported entirely healed from the cracked cheekbone and chest injury he received in the WHL playoff last season.

But rugged defenseman Lorne "Rocky" Caruso broke his leg in two places in a swimming accident.

Doctors advised manager-coach Bud Poile that the youngster would be ready for the season's opener, but would not be able to perform when the Seals open their training camp Sept. 17.

In Most Cases Of Emergency Life Jackets Your Best Help

Boating isn't normally a dangerous pleasure or sport. Yet to use a rather far-out analogy for our purpose, anyone really working at it would manage to drown in a basin of water.

This column has received a number of queries regarding last Sunday's boating tragedy that claimed seven lives. How would the performance of a 14-foot boat be affected with a load of seven persons plus motor and equipment? Some of the victims were wearing life jackets. Were they inadequate? Why didn't they survive? Why . . . why?

Lt. James Brown of the 12th Coast Guard District had this to say: "A life jacket won't guarantee your life will be saved, but it will be your best help in most instances." As he explained, there are often far too many factors involved in a boating accident to predict any one sure measure regarding rescue. One of the most important things to keep in mind and to set up as a credo is this: NEVER GO ANYWHERE BY BOAT WITHOUT TELLING SOMEONE. It can friends, relatives or neighbors—but let someone know where you are going and when you will return. Give them to understand if you are overdue they must report it IMMEDIATELY.

Time is the essence, because exposure and unconsciousness may develop quickly in the low temperature of the bay water. Especially where there is panic, energy is expended causing body temperature to lower.

Lt. Brown points out the particular virtues of the very bulky collar-type life jacket. It does a good job of holding the head above water. It's not the most comfortable . . . but who wears one for comfort? Some 529 persons died in these accidents in 1962. It was found that 441 had NO life saving device. A shocking commentary on all the widely-publicized educational attempts from many authoritative sources.

As to the performance of the boat. Most 14 foot planing hulls plus a 40 h.p. motor with more than four adults aboard, would probably be incapable of accomplishing the planing position necessary for good performance. The craft's freeboard was probably critical due to the load. What triggered the moment of disaster is anyone's guess.

AN INTER-CLUB ski tournament, organized by Water Skiers of Marin club members, is scheduled for Sunday, July 28 at Lake Berryessa. It will be slalom course only, having a number of divisions.

Junior girls and boys will be first. Next will be boys and girls; and following will be the women and men division. Last, senior men and women.

"This is strictly a tournament for the novices," said publicity chairman Bob Miller. "We try to promote these affairs especially to give the younger skiers and others in the non-competitive class a chance to have a go at winning." Awards are presented in the form of classy ribbons designating first through fourth places.

This day of activity will start at 8 a.m., winding up at 8 p.m. At the Lake Berryessa Marina, boats will be standing by at the left-hand dock to carry participants and spectators to the tournament area. They will be plainly identified with banner or sticker. Bob says, "Don't try to find your own way to the tournament area — it's much too complicated."

QUESTION: Sometimes it takes a long time for the water to start coming through my 40 h.p. outboard. Will this cause damage? S.C., Sausalito.

ANSWER: A thermostat unit controls this. When the water is sufficiently heated, it is released. The colder the water, the more time it takes to come through. At 20 degrees, for instance, it might take an interminable time, but when your boat's in warm water, it will come swooshing out. Some of the new motors are equipped with thermo couples that cause the dash to light a red warning when the normal operation goes amiss. It won't be time wasted to inspect the screen on the intake. It sometimes gets fouled.

QUESTION: I have a boat with a 75 h.p. on it. My kids keep it revved up most of the summer skiing. Won't this excessive speed cause trouble?

M.M., Novato

ANSWER: Bill Haskell, outboard "internist" at Western Boat Shop, tells us these motors are engineered for high speeds. Keep the RPMs up—and it should last the slow running outboard 10 to 1. Be sure you're using a prop that will rev it all the way up to the top end of the range for that particular motor. This gives top efficiency.

Sohner Softball Ace Pitches A No-Hit Game

Jay Leatherwood hurled a sparkling no-hitter Tuesday night as Sohner Tree Service upset the highly touted Hamilton Field Defenders, 2-0, in a softball tilt played on the losers diamond.

The no-hitter gave Sohner seven wins in a row and 10 victories in the last 11 games. The loss was the first of the year for the Defenders.

Leatherwood struck out five, walked two and was never in trouble as he pitched the first no-hitter in Sohner history. There wasn't even a hard-hit ball off the talented right-hander.

With Lou Perazzo hurling 17 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run and Leatherwood adding 15 more, the Sohner pitching staff now has a string of 32 straight innings without giving up an earned tally.

Earl Beyer with three safeties accounted for half of the Sohner hitting attack. Art Donati, Leatherwood and Keith Fraser had the other hits.

Putting Tourney At Las Gallinas

Twenty-eight women qualified yesterday at Las Gallinas to compete Tuesday for the Martin Putting Trophy. Qualifying took place on the Las Gallinas nine-hole putting green, where the women will play "18 holes" next Tuesday.

Mrs. Berry Marsh led the qualifying with 18, while Mrs. Arthur Brodie and Mrs. Tom Richardson had 19. Mesdames Kenneth Moser, A. H. Newman, Herbert Samuels and Fred Laubscher each carded 20.

IN GRANNY'S DAY

Carved Chests, Chandeliers Latest Rage In Furniture

DALLAS (UPI) — If your old granny went in for Mediterranean hand-carved chests and stained-glass chandeliers with beaded fringe—and you were smart enough to save them—haul them down out.

It's the latest rage in furniture fashion.

Provincial furnishings, Spanish, Italian and French, nosed out that old favorite, early American, at the Dallas Market Center's semi-annual home furnishings market week.

This included furniture with Moorish fretwork, heavily carved scrolls and moldings that could have come right out of a Spanish castle; Aztec temple designs and ornate golden decorations that would have delighted a Venetian prince.

Especially the chandeliers. Fashioned in brilliant glass, they were identical to those gaudy concoctions that hung in family dining rooms in post-Victorian days.

For years decorators itched to rip them out—but they're definitely back "in."

There were canopy-shaped chandeliers in colored brocade with dangling brass balls . . . chains of crystal beads stained like jeweled ropes . . . and a stained-glass arc with crystal prisms forming the fringe.

Woman In Gray Flannel Suit Keynotes Guy Laroche Collection

PARIS (UPI)—"The woman in the gray flannel suit" will be on the commuter trains this year.

DESIGNER GUY LAROCHE, presenting his collection in the fall-winter Paris fashion week, paraded his pretty mannequins in charcoal gray wool suits and dresses, as did the house of Nina Ricci.

One suit that could be paired with a lady executive's briefcase, for example, had a collarless jacket to mid-hip, loosely cinched with a narrow brown leather belt and garnished with four little flap pockets. His suit shoulders were natural and the narrow skirts just hid the knee.

HIS CHARCOAL GRAY dresses, slim as a reed, were moulded through the waist and usually beltless, following the princess line that appears to be the main dress silhouette for winter.

Laroche even went gray for evening. A sky gray wool ribbed cocktail suit with a short, open jacket had a lining of dark gray oilcloth-like fabric with a matching tam.

Laroche also splashed pink throughout the collections. He showed narrow wool deep pink coats, princess-like pale pink crepe cocktail dresses and pink-and-gray tweed suits.

ONE PINK COAT had a taupe silk lining, with pink shirt and taupe blouse underneath. A cocktail outfit was of sparkling pink brocade, a narrow skirt topped by a casual pullover.

Another Laroche trend was fur dresses, vests and fur sleeves on one cloth coat. Despite the wilting July heat, his models managed to keep walking in such winter anti-frosters as a black seal coat with leopard collar and matching hat. A black wool gabardine coat had black mink sleeves. The audience decided his mannequins in brown-and-white ponyskin suits would be snug in a chilly English home but definitely overheated in the United States.

LAROCHE DEFINITELY recognized that females have curves. His simple princess-line wool dresses with long sleeves were usually beltless and with a seam or gathers underneath the bustline.

The same flattering feminine line continued into the cocktail dresses. He showed many beige, white and pink crepes as well as traditional black, and all were short.

TWO COATS that brought applause were one of navy blue seal, over a navy blue crepe dress, and another of black satiny oilskin-like cloth, belted and pert, with black seal collar and cuffs. The model peeled out of this to show a slink short evening shift of the same satiny cloth with a shirred front and crossed straps over the bareback.

LAROCHE'S SHORT hemline was one more vote against the long skirts. Yesterday, the house of Ricci sat on the fence by showing long coats but short skirts.

MRS. LOUIS BROWNSTONE III

Brownstone-Seligman Rite In New Mexico

Patricia Seligman of San Francisco became the bride of Louis Brownstone III, son of the Arnold Michaels of Kentfield, on July 12 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seligman of Albuquerque, N. M.

Arnold Michaels was his son's best man and Mrs. Robert Levin, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Mary Michaels, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of raw silk and chiffon, the fitted bodice adorned with crystal and bugle beads. The full skirt of white chiffon was underlaid with yellow chiffon.

A reception was held at Albuquerque Country Club after the ceremony, followed by a wedding dinner at the Petroleum Club.

The bride is an executive secretary with McCreary-Karetsky Engineers in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is in the executive training program at Macy's, San Francisco.

San Anselmo will be the home of the newlyweds.

Summer Vacation

If you have not done so, put flowering and foliage plants—that can be spared from their job of decorating house interiors—outdoors for a summer "vacation," advises the Society of American Florists. This will revitalize them; and, by autumn, they will be in better condition for the long winter months ahead.

Nina Winter Wed In Base Chapel

Nina Harrison Winter became the bride of Lt. William Robert Graham Jr. of Kirtland Air Force Base, New Mexico, in a July 20 ceremony at Hamilton Air Force Base Chapel.

The Rev. Howard B. Scholten officiated at the ceremony, for which the bride was given in marriage by Daniel J. Griffin, as her father, Maj. John D. Winter of Los Altos is stationed in Greenland.

Nina recited vows in a gown of white lace with bouffant skirt.

Donna Elizabeth Berry of Albuquerque, N. M., was maid of honor. She wore a yellow Swiss voile dress.

Richard Byrne of Berkeley was best man and the ushers were Lawrence Sloss of Stanford University and David Leeson of Santa Monica.

After the wedding a reception was held at Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club. The couple took a wedding trip to Carmel and will live in Albuquerque.

The bride, who is the daughter of Major and Mrs. Winter of Novato, was graduated from high school in Okinawa and from the University of New Mexico, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

She is the sister of John W. Winter and Susan Winter.

The bridegroom's parents are Col. and Mrs. William Robert Graham of Mira Loma Air Station. William was graduated from California Institute of Technology and received his masters and Ph.D. from Stanford University. Susan Graham of Rialto is his sister.

Fat Content Of The Woman Increases From 30 To 70

NEW YORK (UPI) — Between the ages of 30 and 70 the fat content of the normal woman increases by 55.3 per cent. This is the calculation of Dr. Charlotte M. Young, who is establishing a scientific baseline of how much of the female is fat and how much is lean throughout her life span.

That could sound alarming to females but they can relax. The male doesn't do nearly as well in preserving his proportion of lean to fat as he ages. When both are young the female contains two and a half times more fat than the male does.

WHEN THIS NORMAL male and this normal female reach their 70s, however, he is 30 per cent fat and she is 46 per cent. Her fat ratio has increased by 55.3 per cent but his has shot up by 176 per cent. At this stage the female contains only one and a half times more fat.

By "normal," Dr. King means a woman who is not fat in the sense of being obese—a woman whose body weight is in proper proportion to her height and body build. For some years she has been measuring such women at Cornell University's graduate school of nutrition, Ithaca, N. Y.

The idea is to establish how much of the total women is fat. Dr. Young has measured their body density, the thicknesses of the skinfolds at 12 places, basal oxygen consumption, a number of skeletal dimensions, and several other parameters.

ALL THESE measurements now show that between 16 and 30 female fat is 28.69 per cent of total body weight. It increases just a little between 30 and 40 but between 40 and 50 it gets up to 35.33 per cent. After 50 it is at 41.88 per cent and at 60 at 44.56.

"Mean body density and hence body fatness remained the same from 20 until about 40 years of age," she reported to the New York State Journal of Medicine. "Then density decreased and thus body fatness increased by decades."

Her male figures came from previous scientific studies of leanness-fatness ratios. It is well known to physiologists and physicians generally that females naturally have a higher fat-to-lean ratios than males.

"THE TOTAL thickness of skinfolds did not increase above that of the young woman until the fifth decade and at that point reflected accurately the increase in body fatness," she reported.

CHRISTIAN DIOR:
Most Daring Low

PARIS (AP) — Christian Dior today showed the most daring low cut bosom line in years—but left the hemline modestly just covering the kneecap.

THE HOUSE of Dior, a recognized fashion leader, tightly strapped down bosoms but left them to bulge seductively in vampire sheaths and low, square necklines.

BLOUSED cocktail dresses were left wide open, revealing almost the entire bosom.

DESIGNER Marc Boham, in the fall and winter designs given their first showing this morning, lifted waistlines in shifts and chemise dresses—mostly in the evening models—to just below the pushed-up bosom. The torso was elongated.

THE GREATER exposure of the bosom applied only to certain types of dresses. Fashion observers did not expect it to change the course of designing history.

THE PROGRAM for the showing explained that the models had the winter hemline. This possibly opened the way for a drop in the hemline next spring.

Jacques Heim has lowered the hem by about three inches on his fall and winter wear.

California's Income Higher For Year Than Anticipated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state has reported more income during the past fiscal year than anticipated and credited record levels of automobile sales, construction activity and corporate profits for the boost.

A department of finance announcement showed general fund revenue for the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $1,865,530,732.

This was 1.1 per cent above the budget estimate prepared by the department last December and $6,550,000 above estimates presented to the legislature May 9.

The agency said receipts from the sales tax, bank and corporation tax, insurance tax, interest on investments and parimutuel license fees and the gift tax exceeded expectations by "significant amounts."

But it said the state's share of the inheritance tax, departmental revenues, personal income and cigarette taxes fell below estimates.

Sales tax receipts totaled $813,314,000, accounting for 18.8 million dollars of the 20.4-million-dollar difference between actual revenue and the budget estimate.

"Although automobile sales and building activity were estimated at record highs," the agency said, "the growth in the economy was even more rapid than had been anticipated.

"Continuation of this high level activity into the early months of this year resulted in greater taxable sales."

Revenue from the bank and corporation tax totaled 311.2 million dollars, exceeding the estimate by 4.7 million or 1.6 per cent.

But personal income tax receipts were 2.1 million dollars below the amount forecast at 322 million, and the inheritance tax totaled 86.7 million, down 3.2 million from estimates.

The agency was unable at this time to give a reason for the decline in personal income tax receipts.

Temporary Hanging Gets Double Takes

MIAMI (AP)—Folks walking by the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Smith did doubletakes when they saw a skeleton dangling from a tree. Turned out the papier mache skeleton belonged to a friend—a biology teacher—who was visiting their daughter.

They decided to wash the skeleton and had hung it in the tree to dry.

Pelican Befriended By Two Vacationers

MIAMI (AP)—Vacationers Don Steele of Cincinnati and Robert Trudel of Atlantic City, fishing near here, just couldn't stand the sight of a fat pelican with an arrow through its body.

With the help of a Miami man, the trio nabbed the bird with bait and removed the barbless arrow. The bird then flew off, apparently none the worse for its ordeal.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Smog May Plague Marin Not Too Early To Fight

Smog is something we mostly laugh off in Marin County. "It can't happen here," we tell ourselves. Nonetheless, as was recently noted in these columns, the fact remains that the Bay Area is closing its smog gap with Los Angeles. There the matter is taken seriously and corrective work is in progress.

When our Marin winds change, usually about five days in September and October, we have salutary reminders of the facts of modern life as fumes from Richmond refineries and sewage odors from the whole East Bay afflict our noses.

And however others may disregard this menace, the Bay Area Air Pollution Control people make steady progress in a quiet way. Latest report says that enforcement goals established last December have been exceeded by 46 per cent. All major Bay Area industrial sources of air pollution are expected to be under compliance schedules by the end of this year, officials claim.

Typical of how this works out was last week's installation of a 30-ton $20,000 gadget at the Greenbrae Hutchinson Co. quarry's asphalt plant. This cleans 36,000 cubic feet of air per minute, emitting a 99.9 per cent pure steam plume in compliance with Pollution Control District regulations. (Now, if they'd just straighten up that grotesquely twisted building of theirs!)

Man's inventive ingenuity still seems bogged down over the problem of automotive exhausts, representing 35 to 45 per cent of local air pollition according to district experts. We think little of the one device so far approved, a crankcase-to-carburetor exhaust jigger of dubious value and used by certain engine manufacturers for years past.

Pending a workable exhaust purifier we'd recommend a law giving California Highway Patrol power to take every car obviously a smoke hazard off the highway. One antique stinkpot contributes more fumes to the highway air than several score of well-kept vehicles.

Of special Marin interest in the increasing recognition of trees as a powerful air purification agent. Yet in one respect the planting of more trees is being discouraged.

The several-year-old ban on open burning makes tree ownership an expensive proposition. Prunings and windbroken branches must now be hauled away at considerable expense. For example, a fast growing tree like the acacia will provide a homeowner with yearly bills of $50 to $80, unless he can burn.

What is worse, the law is not uniformly enforced. Some daredevil residents burn any time they get the urge, while others pay to have the limbs hauled off.

The ban is an alien, Southern California import. If we lived in the Los Angeles Basin surrounded by mountains to the east and the smoke and exhaust fumes cooked together under the hot sun to form a choking mixture, then prohibition of open burning would be understandable. But in Marin where the breeze sweeps clean across the Bay and on into the Valley, diffusing the small smoke which homeowners make, it is ridiculous and self-defeating.

In breeze-swept Marin, it would seem to be far better to encourage people to plant and cultivate more trees, rather than discourage them with regulations designed for another situation in another part of the state.

Here is a poem for you!

ARTIST'S LIFE

The artist and his luckless wife—
They lead a horrid, haunted life
Surrounded by the things he's made
That are not wanted by the trade.

This world of ours is fair to see —
The artist will not let it be
He fiddles with the works of God
And makes them look uncommon odd.

The artist is an awful man —
He does not do things he can
He does the things he cannot do
And WE attend the private view!

A Fireman's Wife Speaks Out

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Regarding the problems of the Tamalpais Fire District, it seems only fair that the firemen's side be looked into a little more closely. Because my husband worked for two years as a paid fireman for this district (from 1958 to 1960), I feel I know something of the issues involved.

The one and only reason this department has had these troubles for years is the sullen personality and complete inability of the chief to lead, work with or handle men.

Although the board has always been well aware of these facts, they continue to "whitewash" the chief, giving as their reason that this is best for the fire district and the people they represent. I ask you, what good does it do the district when the paid firemen and the many volunteers are demoralized? What has happened to the waiting list of good men who wanted to be volunteers? What has happened to the social side of the fire department which the men and their wives both enjoyed? . . .

There is more to fire protection than spraying a little water. What quality of protection do the people in the district have if we cannot keep even one fireman long enough to know the complex arrangement of streets in the district and the chaotic system of house and block numbers? Thorough knowledge of the district is essential to any fire department, but is especially vital here, due to similarly named streets such as Midvale, Midway and Mill Vale.

What protection do we have when someone needs first aid? What protection do we have when a call for resuscitator comes in? Can we be assured that the man on duty will be able to find the address? If so, will he be trained in the use of this piece of life-saving equipment?

Are the teen-age civil defense group and other people who back the chief trained in any of these fields? Are they qualified to drive and operate the complicated and costly fire trucks?

Much time, energy and many tax-dollars are spent in training a fireman. Can we the taxpayers afford rapid turn-over?

I hope there are enough Tam District residents who are sincerely interested in the situation, in their fire district, who are willing to spend the time and effort to investigate this problem, to form their OWN conclusions as to what is needed — a new Board of Fire Commissioners? — a new fire chief? —or shall we continue hiring, training and then losing qualified men until the conditions become so widely known, it will be impossible to attract men of desirable character and ability.

Psychology Isn't Psychotherapy

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

According to the I-J report on the July 11 Sounding Board discussion of the Larkspur School Board, one of the panelists favored cut-back of psychological testing among other services. Then she stated that if her child needed psychotherapy "it's not the responsibility of the parents of his classmates to pay."

The statement beclouds the issue. Nobody wants to bring psychotherapy to the schools; it belongs in the doctor's office, or in the hospitals or clinic. It is treatment for the mentally ill.

Psychological testing is a different process altogether. It belongs in the schools; it is a diagnostic service for all children, designed (in compliance with the law) to find those children whose capacity for success at the regular academic program falls below—or exceeds—that of the majority of his classmates.

Psychological services can help the teacher and support the academic program in more ways than can be enumerated here. Let us not eliminate them if we do not know what they are. Let us not even cut them back as long as we are confusing them with something else!

THREE MINUTES A DAY

BEEF STOLEN ON HIGHWAY

Passing motorists pilfered $25,000 worth of beef when a trailer truck overturned in Macon, Georgia.

Explaining the accident, the driver said that in swerving to avoid hitting a car, he lost control of his vehicle and it careened into a bridge. Neither he nor his relief driver was injured , although the trailer overturned and spilled most of its $50,000 cargo of prime beef all over the road.

Before the scattered quarters of beef could be retrieved, many curious autoists stopped and casually helped themselves to choice portions of meat valued at $25,000.

Relatively few people are deliberately dishonest, but at the same time they know that some of their words and deeds would not stand up under the glaring light of truth.

Every person can do something to offset the dangerous trend towards petty thievery, falsehood, cheating, graft and corruption. Yes, an honest world starts with each of us as much as it does with anyone else.

"If your eye be evil, your whole body will be full of darkness."
(Matthew 6:23)

Help me to be be honest with You, myself, and everybody else, O Lord.

A FABLE OF POLITICS

'Natural Leadership' Can Prove A Mighty Risky Sort Of Asset

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)— Political fable for our time, or, a lazy man's guide to national issues:

How To Win Friends

Once there were two squirrels, Wilbur and Ezekial.

From nesthood, Wilbur seemed marked for great squirreldom.

It was he who launched the campaign to hide more acorns so more mighty oaks would from little acorns grow.

It was he who devised the plan to scare the sneaky cat by dropping nuts at him from high places.

IT WAS WILBUR who first made the daring leap to the wire that led to the birdfeeder and the sunflower seed.

"A natural born leader," the other squirrels said.

Zeke was a howza squirrel.

"Howza girl? Howza boy?" he would ask, smiling affably the livelong day.

"You can't help liking Zeke," the other squirrels said.

Both ran for the same office the same year, and while everyone agreed Wilbur was one smart squirrel, there was some discord.

SOMEONE POINTED OUT that sometimes the birdfeeder was empty. Another remembered the cat still prowled about.

Still another doubted the wisdom of planting those acorns, since oaks grow so slowly. "An acorn in the jaw is worth two under the zoysia," this doubter said sagely.

Zeke won in a breeze.

With his great capacity for offending no one, his political future looks brilliant.

Moral: The politician who takes the firmest stand is apt to be the first to be knocked flat.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

"Gentelmen, with tensions increasing, it would be wise to have a procedure for imposing martial law when called upon. Now, after securing a city, we set up an officers' club . . . !"

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

At one of those infrequent periods when Bob Hope was not feeling up to the rigors of the incredible schedule he sets for himself, his doctors told him that among other things he'd have to give up for a time at least, was his beloved game of golf. Outraged, Hope kept looking until he found a doctor who told him he could play 18 holes any time he wanted to. "Thanks, Doctor," exulted Hope. "Just for that I'll remember you in my will." "In that case," the doctor assured him, "play 36!"

Hope confesses that when he took Jayne Mansfield along with him to entertain armed forces personnel in the Pacific area, he made her wear a special dress for the tour. It was made of 200 yards of barbed wire. When the troupe entertained on the deck of a big cruiser, Jerry Colonna pretended to be one of the sailors on the vessel. "What's your job?" Hope demanded. "I polish the brass," explained Colonna. "I've got the shiniest captain in the fleet." How the audience loved it!

Laments Colonel Duffy: "In old bonanza days in California people used to look for gold in the streets. Now they will settle for parking space." "Furthermore," continues the Colonel, "with all the progress in the automotive age, think of how many words have disappeared from the motorist's vocabulary: running board, rumble seat, crank, courtesy . . ."

By FRED WYATT

Reporter Pulls His Neck In When Driving Under Our Overpasses

WITH THE MEMORY of the Madera Village still fresh in their minds, some Corte Madera Planning Commission members are nervous over other controversial projects that might materialize along Highway 101.

The Madera Village is the motel west of the highway that developed into a high density apartment house. Ordinance changes block any further such projects.

Now some commissioners are thinking of the possibility of apartments west of the highway in the old quarry site. Two sets of plans for apartments there were rejected.

The planning commission last month rejected plans that would have included towers more than 100 feet high. Later a set of revised plans for eight-story apartments in the same site were approved by the town board of design and then defeated by the town council by only 3-2 vote.

IF COMMISSIONER Jennings W. Smith is successful the planning commission will initiate a ban on all apartments in that area by recommending that it be rezoned down to duplex.

"I don't know how it ever got zoned for apartments," says Smith. His proposal to recommend rezoning the area will be discussed by the commission next Monday at 7:30 p.m.

As plans for a Corte Madera branch of Campbell Bishop Chevrolet were submitted to the town board of design this week, one town hall source said he believed the enterprise would bring the town $30,000 a year more in sales tax revenue.

I'VE BEEN NERVOUS about driving under the concrete bridges crossing Highway 101 ever since that rig crashed down from the San Quentin Wye a few weeks back and made 40,000 pounds of prune whip on the northbound lanes.

CHP Officer Frank Hulley notes that five years ago a cargo of fish crashed in the same place and a year or so later a rig with a load of lumber did the same.

Do I-J City Editor Bryce W. Anderson, Novato City Administrator J. Julien Baget and San Jose School District Supt. Ralph Giovanniello look alike?

All have the kind of open-air hair-do on top that Yul Brynner wore in "The King and I."

Giovanniello recalls that he met Baget by visiting him in the Novato city offices and saying in mock severity: "Stop looking like me!"

TWO MARIN MUSICIANS will go southward to play in a jazz concert tomorrow night in the Hollywood Bowl.

They are cornetist Muggsy Spanier of Sausalito and pianist Ralph Sutton of Lagunitas. Sutton will play in a group to be led by Muggsy. The group also will include clarinetist Barney Bigard, along with Duke Ellington.

During Sutton's absence his substitute at Barney Gould's Gold Rush Steak House, San Francisco, will be his sister, Barbara Sutton Curtis of Greenbrae.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Must Murphy's Motel Bed All Comers?

By LYLE C. WILSON

THE SANDS are shifting beneath the foundations of President Kennedy's civil rights proposals.

There is, for example, the matter of compromising a moral issue. There is the further matter of imposing morality by law. These matters arise especially in consideration of that part of the Kennedy proposal that would legislate the desegregation of all places of public accommodation.

It is argued that the federal government has a moral responsibility to desegregate all places of public accommodation even though thousands of those places are mere mom-and-pop operations or Mrs. Murphy tourist homes and boarding houses. But it also is argued that the federal government could not in good conscience impose this particular morality on such as these small, family public accommodations.

It is argued, also, that the imposition could not be enforced even though the armed forces were summoned to compel all of the Mrs. Murphys to bed down unwanted customers, or the moms and pops to serve them.

THESE LATTER arguments apparently possess great force because there is a disposition on the part of the Kennedy administration to back away from the federal desegregation of Mrs. Murphy's spare bedrooms, for example, as well as the little business operated by mom and pop. Nor do the Kennedys alone seem to hesitate.

No New York State politician can afford to be outdone by any one in his loud demands for all-inclusive civil rights guarantees. Such a politician is Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

Javits is on record, however, that some compromise may be necessary to obtain legislation against discrimination in places of public accommodation. The senator told a TV audience (CBS) that the volume of business or the number of employees might need to be considered in imposing a federal public accommodations law.

THAT PROBABLY is good, practical politics. But it seems not to be good morals.

If the Waldorf-Astoria must be integrated as a matter of morality, at what point down the business scale toward Mrs. Murphy's motel does morality cease to be the controlling factor so that practical politics may take over? That is a question the practical politicians cannot answer.

They may soften its impact but they can't answer it.

Perhaps it is the Puritan ethic again haunting the congressional conscience as when President Kennedy proposed to continue deficit spending to help finance a tax cut. It is well known that the Puritans were squares of the worst kind, but they believed in living within their income. They didn't believe in compromising moral issues.

TAMING THE SHREW

The Marin Shakespeare Festival will present its opening performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" at 8:30 tonight at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, with repeat performances slated tomorrow and Saturday. Dan Whiteside of the University of Redlands, playing Petruchio, is shown exerting his mastery over Gay Sibley of Modesto in the role of Kate. There will be Elizabethan dances at 8:15 preceding the play.

Can't Fence Off Playing Children

Despite his protest of annoyance by neighboring children, Sidney Wolkoff may not build a six-foot-high fence on the Stanford Court side of his property at 250 Tualne Drive, the Larkspur Planning Commission voted 5-0 Tuesday night.

Wolkoff said the children use his sideyard as a location for third base of their baseball diamond, peer into his bathroom and throw fruit into his yard. He said this all aggravates the condition of his wife, who he said is highly nervous.

But several neighbors whose houses front on Stanford Court protested granting a variance for a fence would blight their view. The commission sympathized with Wolkoff's complaint but decided he would have to obtain relief from the children some other way than the fence he wanted.

Aage Manniche was granted a variance to build a second story on his garage at 12 Ridgeway Lane on his assurance he would not use it for living quarters.

Mrs. Jacqueline Albright was granted a use permit for one year to use the house at 501 Cane Street for a private school for small children.

The commission granted the request by R. J. Lampky to split property he owns on Sunrise Lane into two lots of 8,970 and 7,810 square feet respectively, each larger than the 7,500 square feet required.

Robert Busse withdrew his application for a use permit to convert a duplex at 18 Walnut Avenue into a triplex until he has worked out parking plans in more detail.

H. Liebes Co. Plans Store At Northgate

H. Liebes and Co., pioneer San Francisco women's fashion and specialty wear store, will open a branch next year in the Northgate Regional Shopping Center, San Rafael.

The announcement was made jointly yesterday afternoon by Sidney Liebes, president and general manager of the firm, and Jerome C. Draper Jr., president of the Draper Companies, Northgate developers.

Liebes said the opening, scheduled for late 1964, will coincide with the 100th anniversary of the firm, founded in 1864 by his grandfather.

A lease has been signed for a 15,000-square-foot site to be located near the Emporium.

The Northgate branch will be Liebes' fifth store in the Bay Area. Besides the downtown San Francisco headquarters, branches are in the Hillsdale Shopping Center, San Mateo, and the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City. An Oakland store is to be opened in October in the Foothill Square Shopping Center at 108th Avenue and MacArthur Boulevard.

The firm also has buying offices in New York, Los Angeles, London, Paris, Florence, and Copenhagen.

Liebes is the fourth major retail store to sign a lease in the Northgate Shopping Center. Besides the Emporium, Florsheim Stores and Sommer and Kaufmann plan on opening here next year. The Bank of America is also planning a branch just south of the Emporium.

Burglary Victim Makes Net Gain

LUMBERTON, Miss. (AP) — In an attempted burglary of a dairy bar here, the owner Fred Tyner came out ahead.

Tyner discovered a man putting silver in a paper bag by the cash register when he was awakened about 3 a.m. He grabbed the man as he ran by causing him to drop the bag of coins. When he counted the money, Tyner discovered there was $1.55 more than he had left in the register.

A nearby grocery reported the loss of a small amount of coins the same night.

SOCIAL SERVICE — Rev. John J. O'Connor has been appointed by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken as executive director of Catholic Social Service of Marin County. Hunter Safety Graduation Set

Ten boys will be graduated tonight from a hunter safety course at the Belvedere Community Center given by William Graham, safety instructor for the Department of Fish and Game.

A representative of the Marin County sheriff's office will speak at the ceremonies at 7 p.m., Graham said.

Persons under 16 must take such a safety course to obtain a California hunting license, he said.

Employees Of Novato Drubbed Over Letters

A dignified slap at city employees who don't tell the city council what is happening was administered Tuesday night by Novato city councilmen as they debated the case of Novato's mysterious lost letter.

A file of eight letters, dating back from March 8 to July 22, was presented to the council for the first time by City Administrator J. Julien Baget.

The letters, including a copy of the lost letter from the State Division of Highways, were all written without the council's knowledge between city employees and the highways division on the topic of Novato's controversial bypass route for Highway 101.

"These letters first came to light in the Independent-Journal," said Councilman John J. Angeloni. "Knowing the background of the highway, the council should have heard of this. These letters should have been top level."

"We thought we should get the information first, then submit it to you to act on," said Baget.

The Division of Highways wants to know if the city expects to leave the present Highway 101 a limited access road after the new bypass is built or to change it to an ordinary street with unlimited access. It also wants to know if the city expects to buy the old Grant school property, now owned by the state, at Grant Avenue and Highway 101. The city has considered making it into a parking lot for the new city hall.

"The state has 30 feet of limited access rights along the highway," said Angeloni. "If we plan to change that property to open access, its value will increase immensely. This is a policy decision and something we should have known about a long time ago."

Baget told the council that a meeting with representatives from the highways division attended by city planner Robert Lagle and public works director Charles Joseph without knowledge of the council was "only informational. I couldn't go so I asked them to attend."

Councilmen agreed to answer the latest highways division letter by asking for notification if the Grant Avenue property is to be sold and to also inquire about the possibility of the state giving the land to the city.

Policy on the future of the present highway should be discussed thoroughly—and soon, councilmen agreed.

The missing letter was written May 21 and asked whether the city wants the state to keep the Grant school property until a bypass route is built or to sell it now. Baget told councilmen a search of every file in city hall failed to find the letter. "To the best of our knowledge, we never got it," he said.

The latest letter from the highways division, written July 12, was sent by certified mail with return receipt requested.

It Took Store 10 Years To Do Work

LITHGOW, Australia (AP)—In 1953 Mrs. G. Clark took an umbrella to a local store to be recovered, and later the store said it had lost it.

In March 1963, Mrs. Clark had a bill for $2.80 from the store, went along, and there was her umbrella re-covered.

Proposed Sidewalks Size At High School Questioned

Members of the San Rafael Board of Education Tuesday night furrowed their brows and wondered why their architect Carl F. Gromme had over-designed the sidewalks proposed at San Rafael High School.

The puzzlement arose after business manager Charles L. Condrotte recommended that all four bids, ranging from $20,988 to $28,728, for installation of curbs, sidewalks and new paving on the campus be rejected.

Supt. Bert C. Corona said the district did not have the money budgeted to cover the work, but it was more complex than that.

Condrotte said the architect's plans called for footings a foot thick under the sidewalks. Bidding contractors thought this much footing was not needed and when Condrotte checked back with Gromme, the architect also agreed that it was not needed.

"Why does he draw a more expensive plan if it's not needed in the first place?" board member Carl J. Brown asked.

Gromme was not present to answer, but Condrotte said someone else in the architect's office prepared the specifications and Gromme failed to catch the thick footing requirement.

"We all make mistakes," board member Walter J. Doll remarked. He said, however, that the architect should be made fully aware of the district's needs and financial limitations.

Doll said the sidewalk matter was a minor problem, but construction of 18 classrooms at Terra Linda High School and 34 classrooms and a library at San Rafael High School, all to be designed by the firm of Gromme and Priestly, "is a major job."

The Citizens Committee on School District Finance and Facilities recommended several months ago that the school board consult others on school design. Doll called attention to the recommendation last night, but said he was not sure it was necessary. He declared the architect himself should call in assistance when he needs it.

After rejecting the sidewalk bids, the board authorized Condrotte to try getting the job done on a limited scale. Condrotte said some curbs and resurfacing can be done, but no sidewalks, within the $7,000 budgeted.

The board later in the evening authorized contracts with Gromme and Priestly for the $890,000 classroom and library job at San Rafael High and the $400,000 classroom job at Terra Linda. The architects will receive a fee of 8 per cent of construction cost.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Opponent's Discards Meant To Deceive Bridge Players

It's important to remember one thing about your opponents: They're on the other side.

They won't be trying to help you, and clever opponents may even try to deceive you. Shame on them for being so deceitful. And shame on you if you are taken in.

This got South nowhere, unless you count the sunshine he brought into the life of East and West. A simple spade finesse would have given him game and rubber; thanks to his gullibility, he was down one.

West took the two high diamonds and led a third diamond for East to ruff.

KEEP ACE

East returned the 10 of clubs, and South stepped up with the king because he wanted to keep the ace of clubs in the dummy.

Declarer then drew trumps, and East counted tricks quickly without making a big production of it. He knew that South had started with six trumps and that declarer was sure to win two clubs and the ace of spades. That gave South nine tricks, and a successful spade finesse would give him his 10th trick.

ONLY HOPE

East's only hope was to talk South out of the spade finesse. When South drew three more rounds of trumps, leaving only one in his hand, East had his chance. East discarded the jack of spades first, then two other spades.

West saw what was up so discarded the deuce of spades in addition to two diamonds and two clubs.

South was convinced that the spade finesse was going to lose. All of the spade discards gave him reason to hope that the king might drop. Hence South led a spade to the ace and ruffed a low spade.

In 1956, two liners, the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm, collided near Nantucket. Fifty persons died.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fight Against Heavy Smoking Should Be Aimed At Teen-Agers

VAN DELLEN

We predict that during the next year several health organizations will join the American Cancer society in their fight against heavy smoking. They will concentrate on the teen-ager, hoping to discourage the boy or girl from starting. It is better to avoid or defer cigarette smoking as long as possible, as it is difficult to break the habit once it is well established.

But this is not as easy as it sounds because teen-agers are an independent group. It is here that the organizations must use their wits to come up with convincing propaganda. The appeal may be made to the parents, on the assumption that the approach will differ with each child.

THE TEEN-AGER who respects his parents' judgment will listen to the health aspects. Parents can point out that smoking is not advisable for a person who is half-child and half-adult, as his development and athletic ability may be affected.

It may be possible to convince the youngster that tobacco is an irritant and that the majority of smokers develop bronchitis. In addition, smoking may have an adverse effect on the heart and stomach.

A RECENT STUDY showed no apparent relationship between the smoking habits of parents and their offspring. On the other hand, all of us have friends who smoke and children see many admired and respected friends who appear to get satisfaction from tobacco. Advertising also increases the urge to smoke. It has been said that the number of youngsters starting to smoke exceeds the number of adults who quit. This may explain why cigarette sales continue to rise.

The cancer scare, so far, has done more to sell filters than to deter smoking. No one knows where this fight will end. It is logical to appeal to the teen-ager because in one study it was found that 14 per cent off high school freshmen and 22 per cent of juniors were smokers.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

PILL SICKNESS

A. D. writes: I'm on a reducing diet and a few hours after taking my vitamin pills I feel like throwing up. Is this unusual?

REPLY

No. Some individuals find that vitamins do not "agree with" them. Others burp after taking the capsules and complain of a disagreeable aftertaste.

FACIAL PARALYSIS

R. T. writes: Is Bell's palsy due to a germ?

REPLY

No. The cause of this form of paralysis is not known but in some victims the condition followed sleeping in a draft or riding in a car with the window open. Send. a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on Bell's palsy.

CLUBFOOT

H. N. writes: How are clubfeet in a newborn treated?

REPLY

In some instances, manipulation does the trick whereas others require traction, a plaster of paris cast, or surgery. Treatment is started as soon as possible and a cured clubfoot is as good as a normal foot.

DETACHED RETINA

D. W. writes: How does retinal detachment affect vision?

REPLY

The afflicted person may have cloudy vision or, as some say, "a curtain over the eyes." He usually can see better in the morning and some complain of seeing flashes of lights and spots before the eyes.

LETTING OFF STEAM

J. B. writes: Can a person get an ulcer from blowing his top frequently?

REPLY

Not from blowing his top but from living under the amount of tension requiring letting off steam this frequently.

Lawmaker Knows How To Make Fun Of Self

By GEORGE MOSES

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—His finger pointed dramatically heavenward, the congressman intoned:

"There are many things I've done in office that I'd rather not talk about."

His audience laughed and cheered. The congressman raised a hand for silence.

"I stand for everything that is good. And you can't hardly beat that." More laughter and cheers.

If the dignity of the U.S. Congress has been dented a bit lately, it's because Rep. Clark MacGregor of Minnesota has a weakness for amateur theatrics with a touch of political satire.

In the past half-year he has appeared three times in a Minneapolis coffee house with an amateur group specializing in social and political satire. He has played either himself or a political caricature not readily identifiable as anyone else.

The 40-year-old Republican obviously enjoys the romp. He finds it "really relaxing," thinks it's healthy for politicians to poke fun at themselves, and doubts it hurts his image with the voters.

The coffee house, a cubicle in a medium low-rent neighborhood, can pack in perhaps 150 when the players, who call themselves the Brave New Workshop, take over three nights a week.

The proprietor-impresario, Dudley Riggs, tells patrons if the skits have failed to offend anyone, come back next week.

The other evening the tall, ruddy MacGregor played himself being interviewed by a magazine for a cover story.

He fussed agonizingly with the hang of some American flags on his desk while waiting, worked himself up to a near-frenzy of excitement, then smugly admonished himself: "Be calm, cover boy!"

In a second skit he played a mayor debating his foe, complete with a League of Women Voters referee and questions from the audience.

MacGregor thundered majestic non sequiturs.

"I love this town. I'll get this town moving again. I'll make these same prophecies as long as there's a breath in my body."

Each audience question—sample: "What about high taxes?"—got the same basic treatment. "That's a very good question," followed by a torrent of double talk.

MacGregor claims no credit for the lines, written by two Minneapolis newspapermen, but says he has helped out with suggestions for even sharper satire than the troupe originally dared.

De Gaulle Risks Being Left In Cold

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles deGaulle risks finding himself left out in the cold in the fast-developing reconciliation between Moscow and the West.

There was no empty chair waiting for France in the current East-West nuclear test ban talks in Moscow. There simply was no chair at all.

There is a growing feeling in Western capitals that a summit meeting of President John F. Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev might result next winter if a test ban agreement, even a limited one, is signed.

But, curiously, little or nothing has been said about the possibility of deGaulle taking part, too. It simply is assumed he would not.

In fact, deGaulle's whole attitude toward the cold war and reconciliation with Moscow has done little to encourage his allies to try to get him in on the act.

He has refused consistently to have any part in diplomatic "probing" talks with the Russians in the past 18 months.

He boycotted the Geneva disarmament conference on the ground that it would achieve nothing.

He has cold-shouldered the talks on a nuclear test ban. His argument was that any test ban agreement would be useless unless all existing nuclear stockpiles and the vehicles for launching nuclear weapons are destroyed. In fact, he obviously is determined to stay out of any East-West nuclear agreement until France has its own independent nuclear striking force.

Recently, Khrushchev, in a private message conveyed by his Paris Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov, tried to get deGaulle to abandon his own nuclear testing if the United States, Britain and Russia reach an agreement to do so too.

DeGaulle's reply was not made public. But it apparently showed no disposition to unbend on his part.

The French leader has made his position clear on a possible reconciliation between Moscow and the West.

He will not negotiate until Russia quits threatening the West, particularly over Berlin.

He believes a reconciliation will come some day and that it will be hastened by the Moscow-Peking quarrel over world Communist leadership. But so far he has not indicated he sees any sign that Russia is ready yet to talk turkey without threats or duress.

DeGaulle has kept silent on these and other major foreign policy issues since his Jan. 14 news conference. He has scheduled another one July 29.

French officials and foreign diplomats are waiting with interest to see whether the tough uncompromising deGaulle of last winter may have thawed out enough to join in bringing East-West relations out of the deep freeze.

Expensive Vandals

NEW YORK (UPI)—Replacing school windows smashed by unruly students will cost the American taxpayer 40 million dollars this year, according to a survey made by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Toes Might Help Ma. Human Chromosomes

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—Science's so far frustrated efforts to "map" human chromosomes might profitably center on people's toes, suggested Dr. Arnold R. Kaplan, a geneticist.

He got toe measurements of 109 persons. With 69 of them, the big toe also was the longest toe. But with 37 the second toe—the toe next to the big toe—was the longest.

And with two persons the third toe stuck out ahead of the others. Nor were these the only curious toe variations. There were other differences in the relative lengths.

In two of the 69 whose big toes were their longest toes, the third toe rather than the second toe, was next longest. In all of the 37 whose second toes were their longest, the big toe was runner-up, but in one of the two whose third toes were the longest, the second toe was next longest.

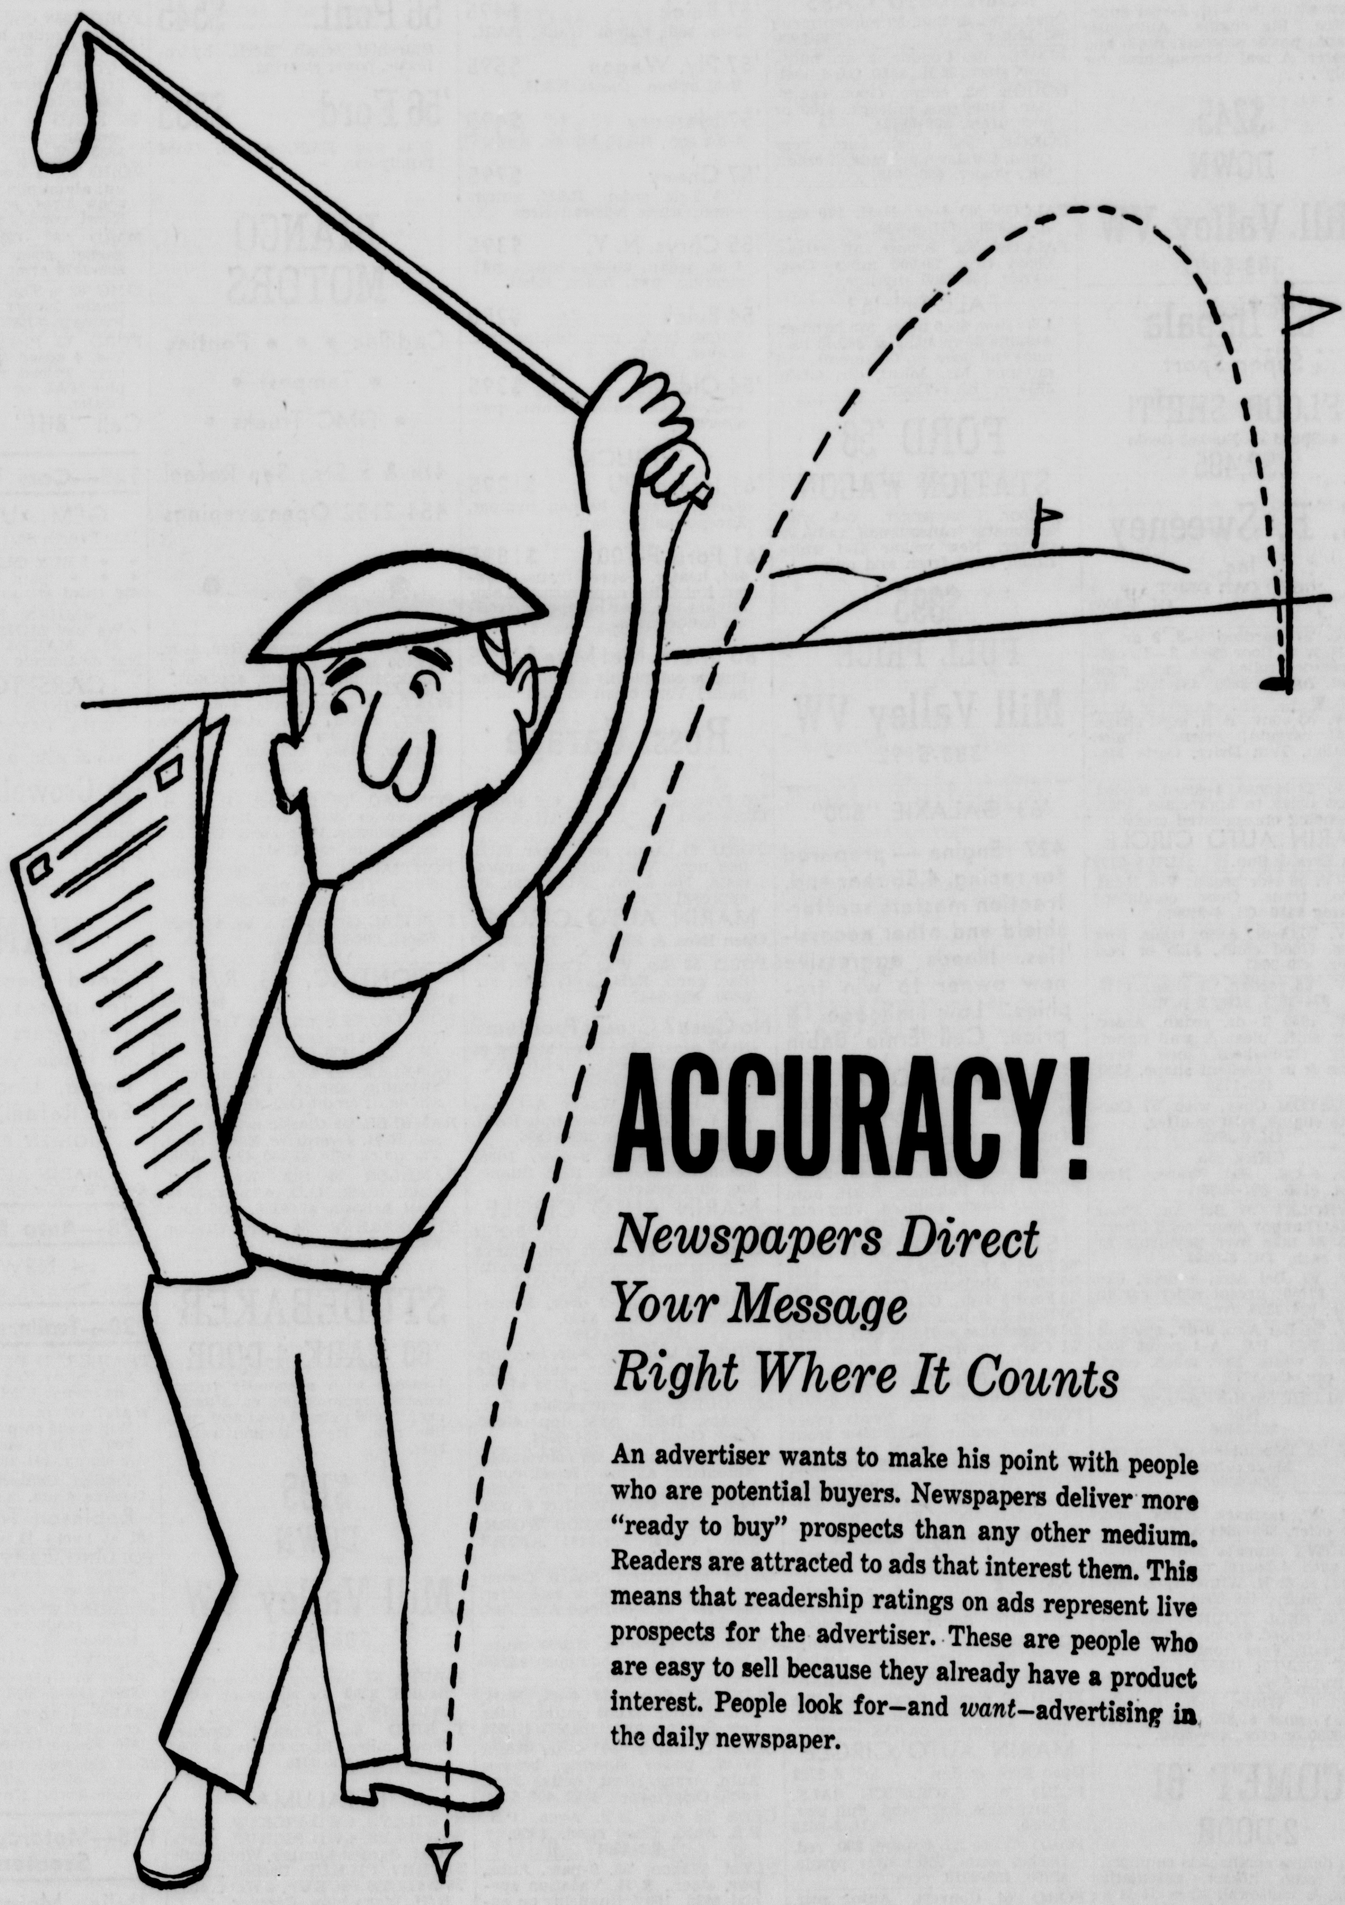
Kaplan and other geneticists have not the slightest doubt that the lengths and arrangements of people's toes are decided by the genes in the cromosomes which convey everything that's inherited from one generation to the next.

Their problem which so far has proved insolvable is to "map" the locations of the innumerable genes in the chromosomes that make and operate a human being. Their crying need is for simple and reliable "marker" genes.

Kaplan's inspiration was that the gene or genes controlling relative toe lengths could be such a "marker." When geneticists have a "marker" they can figure out linkages with other genes and the first thing you know a little bit of the incredibly complicated chromosomal map is in place.

The genes which control eye color are such "markers." There was a time when those involved in nose shapes and sizes were possible candidates but it turned out that nose shapes and sizes defied simplification into precise measurements.

As a geneticist Kaplan naturally investigated the toes of the parents of his subjects—and the toes of their brothers and sisters, too.



ACCURACY!

Newspapers Direct Your Message Right Where It Counts

An advertiser wants to make his point with people who are potential buyers. Newspapers deliver more "ready to buy" prospects than any other medium. Readers are attracted to ads that interest them. This means that readership ratings on ads represent live prospects for the advertiser. These are people who are easy to sell because they already have a product interest. People look for—and want—advertising in the daily newspaper.

Marinites Judge State Fair Art

Three Marin County residents were judges last weekend for the 1963 California State Fair art competition in Sacramento.

Among the 14 judges from throughout the state were Janet Jones, Mill Valley; Eric Norstad, Corte Madera, and Kamma Zetharaus, Kentfield.

Winners will be announced later. The art exhibit will be open to the public at the fair, Aug. 28-Sept. 9.

Lower Farm Net

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The farmer's share of the retail food dollar is shrinking. In the first three months of this year it was 37 cents, 2 cents less than a year earlier. Rising marketing costs, including processing, packaging and shipping, are blamed.

Blind Woman, 73, Helps Out Needy Children Of Asia

Awarded Freedom Medal —Highest Civilian Honor

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—When the U.S. Embassy in Saigon told blind Genevieve Caulfield, 73, that she had been awarded the presidential Medal of Freedom, she gasped and said, "My goodness, whatever is that?"

She was genuinely astonished as the embassy told her it was America's highest civilian peacetime honor, and read off the names of some other recipients this year—Pablo Casals, Thornton Wilder, George Meany, Ralph Bunche.

"But why pick me," Miss Caulfield asked in her soft, carefully modulated voice.

The answer lies not in her dedication to a cause, like George Meany, or to the arts, like Casals and Wilder. In an age of the big gesture, Genevieve Caulfield, stooped now, and with iron gray hair, personifies the tiny individual efforts being made to help cure some of the ills of the world.

Miss Caulfield has spent 30 years helping blind children in Southeast Asia live normal lives. A doctor blinded her accidentally by spilling a bottle of corrosive medicine over her eyes when she was three months old in her home town of Suffolk, Va.

A year later, an operation restored some light perception in her right eye. Since then she has seen the world visually only as shades of gray.

When she went to Thailand in 1938 to try and establish a school for blind children, the first in the country, the people of Bangkok looked at her incredulously and declared, "Why help them? It is foolish."

Even now in Southeast Asia, Miss Caulfield says, the tendency is to write off retarded children as hopeless misfits.

She was not to be denied in Thailand. Her school, financed with her own meager savings, got off the ground in Bangkok late in 1938 with one pupil. She mastered the difficult Thai language and devised a Thai Braille alphabet.

The Thai government began supporting her after a few years and takes care now of one-sixth of the school's budget. The rest comes from donations.

The school now has 145 pupils. There is another school with 40 pupils, run by the government. Miss Caulfield estimates that in Thailand there are 30,000 blind people.

"When I think of all those people who are not taken care of I feel sad," she said. "But then, what can we really do? I feel my job is to try and make the people of these countries aware of their blind, and other retarded children and adults. But this way I can aid them."

Miss Caulfield's urge to help those afflicted as she is, built up over the years, first in the United States and then in Japan. She saved for seven years from her small earnings as an English teacher in New York to go to Japan to help the blind.

Finding Japanese blind programs highly developed, she remained to teach English until she built up her savings and her courage to go it alone in Southeast Asia.

She was invited to Viet Nam by the Saigon government in 1958 and now commutes regularly from Thailand. In Saigon she established "The Friends of the Blind of Viet Nam," and got a tiny school going for blind girls.

The school, with its handful of students, is cramped and facilities are poor. But Miss Caulfield is not pressing the government of either Thailand or South Viet Nam to build more imposing schools.

"My work has always been on a small scale, as much as an example to the people here as anything else. If I can make the public realize that the blind can be taught to lead useful lives then I would have achieved enough."

In Thailand, her blind students have become telephone operators, typists and teachers. Nine have been sent abroad for study. Some American servicemen have offered to finance a group of young blind girls in Viet Nam to go to the United States for advanced study.

Miss Caulfield still takes an active part in the welfare of her students, but she leaves the running of her schools to highly trained locals. She is a familiar figure in Saigon and Bangkok, walking slowly by herself or on the arms of friends.

Occasionally, she revisits the United States on self-imposed "lecture crusades." Last year she had a book, "The Kingdom Within," published.

She intends to stay in Asia as long as she is able to get around.

"So much is to be done," she says, "I will stay here as long as I am able."

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

June Continued To Hold Up In Marin Real Estate Loans

June continued to hold up in Marin real estate loans ($24,335,380), keeping the pace well ahead of the same month last year and the first six months to date. About 44 per cent of all June loans were executed by savings and loan associations.

Deed recordings cumulated on the Data Sheet of Title Insurance and Trust Co. also showed gains, but Marin's neck-and-neck running mate, Sonoma, nosed ahead slightly for the month.

Marin's average loan of $25,380 is about 65 per cent larger than the Sonoma average, 52.5 per cent larger than Alameda County's, 31.8 per cent more than Contra Costa's, 5.7 higeh than San Francisco's—but 14 per cent lower than San Mateo County's average.

August Fairs And Fun Set Around REA

A hootenanny of fun-filled fairs and festivals awaits visitors to the Redwood Empire of Northern California and southern Oregon during August.

Topping the list are Napa's Town and Country Fair, Aug. 8-11; the Humboldt County Fair and race-meet at Ferndale, Aug. 12-18; the Josephine County Fair and Horse Show at Grants Pass, Aug. 21-24; the Del Norte County Fair at Crescent City, and the Redwood Empire Fair at Ukiah, both Aug. 23-25, and the Lake County Fair at Lakeport, Aug. 30-Sept. 1.

As if that weren't enough, there's the Valley of the Moon Chess Festival at Sonoma, Aug. 4; sports car races at Cotati on the 10th and 11th; Petaluma's "Old Adobe Days" funfest, Aug. 17 and 18; the San Francisco Flower Show at Golden Gate Park's Hall of Flowers, Aug. 22-25.

Sports events include the Northern California Boat and Ski Club championships at Nice (on Clear Lake), Aug. 3-4; AAU swim meets at Grants Pass, Aug. 9-11, and at Healdsburg, Aug. 17; the San Francisco Giants at Candlestick Park (20th through 28th), and the 15th annual Chinese National Tennis Championships in San Francisco, starting the 24th.

At Ross, the Marin Shakespeare Festival presents "Othello" Aug. 1-3, 15-17, and 29-31; "Taming of the Shrew" Aug. 8-10 and 22-24. Arthur Fiedler conducts the Muni "Pops" concerts at Masonic Auditorium in the Bay City on the 3rd, 7th, 10th, 14th and 17th of this exciting month.

Play Set Tonight

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. today and each night through Saturday at Tamalpais High School's Ruby Scott auditorium by the school's summer session drama class.

SFO HELICOPTER AIRLINES has found it advisable to order a fourth Sikorsky 10-passenger whirlybird to put on its Oakland and San Francisco runs to airports. This, even discounting the possibility of having service to Marin County certified this fall.

SFO carried 13,000 passengers last month, barely enabling it to keep abreast of the traffic with its present three Sikorskys. The new copter will cost the firm another $320,000.

ADELINE J. MacTAGGART of San Rafael has joined the staff of the J. P. Cahn Co., San Francisco firm specializing in handing trade shows and similar events. Mrs. MacTaggart was formerly public relations director for Munsingwear and has been a Marin resident for 18 months.

RECIPIENTS of Quality Service Awards are Franklin T. Birdsall Jr. of Kentfield and Joseph P. Burke of San Anselmo for recognition of outstanding achievements with Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. They are members of the company's Murrell Brothers Brubaker Agency in San Francisco.

A NEW KING-SIZED filter cigarette is being introduced by Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. in the Bay Area which is being used as a testing ground.

Called "Lark," it has not one, but three filters—two of conventional cellulose acetate, with charcoal granules sandwiched in the middle. The latter are calculated to absorb the "volatile irritants" said to be present in cigarette smoke in small quantities. Charcoal is widely used in air conditioners and as air purifiers in submarines.

Look for them to be on sale either this week or next week.

OBJECTORS to the Bodega Bay atomic reactor plant might prefer as an alternative that PG&E consider something like this device under research by General Electric for the Air Force:

It's a sealed package only three feet long and one foot in diameter designed to hold enough atomic fuel to supply the electrical power needs of 100 average homes for more than two years.

Bury one in every neighborhood. Earthquake proof.
